GIRL AIDE IN $4000 THEFT

LEAGUE FINANCING — FARGO.
N. Dak., March 16.—There is no more to tell of this, the political center of the Agrarian uprising, except some more detailed account of the history and fate of the governmental and co-operative business enterprises fostered by the Non-Partisan League.

The original foundation of all these enterprises was characterized by the most astonishing "high finance." They were capitalized by pyramiding credit or credit, with little or no actual money except that raised by public taxation and already dedicated to other public purposes. It was the effort to lift a whole business structure by pulling on its own bootstraps.

First was the Bank of North Dakota. Bonds were authorized by law to the extent of $2,000,000 to capitalize this bank, but before it could be started, the nation-wide boycott of North Dakota securities was on and the bonds did not sell. A law was passed requiring the state and all political subdivisions, down to the smallest school district, to deposit their public funds in this state bank. So the deposits were accepted and then the bank sold the bonds to itself, paying for them with the deposited money. Later on, the bonds did sell and the bank now has a real capital stock; but it started on nothing.

The state bank, thus bootstrapped, into existence, was then made the basis of capitalizing numerous other institutions, all by the same process of pyramiding credits. The dues of the Non-Partisan League were largely paid in post-dated checks of $16 each. But the league needed cash and the banks would not discount these securities. So the first thing to do was to establish new banks, which would be available for league financing.

The farmers in each district were asked to finance a co-operative bank, giving their notes for its stock. They were told they would never have to pay these notes, as the large profits of the banking business would soon cover them. The Bank of North Dakota advanced the cash, on these notes, long enough for each bank to secure a charter, and then "re-deposited" state tax funds in these banks to which the notes were payable. Then they were to be able to loan for league enterprises.

These banks, once established on an initial investment of nothing, it became easy to use them to finance other institutions by the same process.

One of the first was a chain of country co-operative stores. The farmers in a district would put up their notes for, say, $25,000, to establish a store, the league to set up and stock the store and use the rest for "educational purposes." These notes would be discounted by the local league bank (the Bank of North Dakota "feeding in" the necessary tax money if deposits did not suffice). The league would perhaps $10,000 into the store and use the rest for propaganda and general expenses. If the $25,000 notes were ever to pay themselves off, it would have to be out of the profits of a $10,000 business.

Following the stores came newspapers. Daily papers were established in Fargo and North Forks, and local co-operative weeklies in each county seat. The farmers bought preferred stock at $100 a share paying in notes.) The league promoters were given common stock at $2 a share for their services. Each share, whether of $100 or $2, had one vote. The preferred stockholders were to get the first profits, up to $6 a share. Any more profits were to be divided "share and share alike"—that is $1 to the $100 or $2 preferred stock, and $1 to each $2 of common stock.

The league's subsidiary news bureau furnished the editors and the news. The farmers furnished the notes, and the league banks the money.

These newspapers were valuable mediums of propaganda. The farmers were told the capitalist-owned newspapers were their enemies and that they must believe only what they read in their own papers. Then the league news and editorial bureau furnished what was to be printed in these papers.

The most disastrous of the banking undertakings was the Scandinavian-American Bank in Fargo. This was originally established by local business men, with a capital of $50,000 and a book surplus of $10,000. The legal limit of a loan by it to one person was $9,000. Needing a Fargo bank for central office financing, a league subsidiary was formed which acquired a controlling interest in this bank. Instantly, its deposits were spectacularly increased, largely by re-deposits of state funds. Much of this extra money—between $500,000 and $600,000—was loaned to the league, on dummy notes for $3,000 each, signed by its employees and field organizers, putting up league notes and post-dated checks as security. Whether this proceeding was illegal is now being tried in the criminal court in Fargo.

The bank was closed twice, the first time by a political coup, taking advantage of the absence of certain officials from the state. Later it was closed by the league's own examiner for undeniable insolvency. It is now in the hands of a receiver.

The one great state-owned institution over which the whole trouble started, in 1915 and earlier, was the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks. It was finally provided for, in the league controlled legislature of 1919, and bonds authorized for its construction. A beginning was made, with Bank of North Dakota bonds not sold, so the

ROW OVER ESTATE BARED

Dead Woman's Property at Anaheim Center in Hot Court Battle

SON FILES ACTIONS AGAINST FOUR HEIRS

Plaintiff Says Claim He Was Provided for During Mother's Life Untrue

Hurling charges of fraud, undue persuasion, and an effort to conceal the major portion of the $200,000 estate of the late Mrs. Amalie Frohling, Anaheim, Walter Eymann, a son, filed three actions in superior court here today.

John Eymann, Pellegrin Van Oost, Alma Pellegrin and Pansy Blossom, heirs under a purported will, were the defendants. In the first action, a civil complaint to determine ownership of valuable holdings.

According to the complaint, the defendants possess a grant, which purports to transfer to them two lots at Anaheim, twelve shares of stock in the Anaheim Water company, and vineyard lands. These deeds, the complaint asserted, were never executed by the deceased. The signature appended is a fraud, it was alleged.

In a second action filed today, the son protested the probate of the will by the terms of which Mrs. Frohling virtually disinherited him. In the will, which was filed several weeks ago, the deceased claimed that she had amply provided for Walter during her lifetime, and divided the estate between the remaining heirs.

This was not true, Walter contended, stating that he never received the property, but that the defendants in the first action persuaded Mrs. Frohling to believe that he had.

In addition, it was alleged that the will was not entirely written by the deceased, nor it signed by her in the presence of witnesses. She was incompetent to execute a will, it was said.

Woman is Accused

In the third action filed today, Walter Eymann protested the appointment of Alma Pellegrin for liquidation of administration, asserting that she was incompetent, and intended to withhold the major portion of the estate.

In her petition, Mrs. Pellegrin has claimed that the estate consisted of only $3,455, whereas it was in excess of $200,000, Eymann claimed.

For further cause, he stated that the will was invalid, and that it should not be admitted to probate.

Attorneys H. A. Rutan and Scovel of this city, represent the contestant in all of the actions, while Attorneys Ames and McFadden of Anaheim are counsel for the petitioner.

$40,000 EXPENDED BY SINGLE TAXERS

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—The campaign waged against the single tax measure and the proposal to increase the number of signatures necessary in an initiative petition, both of which were defeated by the voters last November, were so closely linked that persons who contributed to one campaign unwittingly aided the other, according to the testimony of E. P. Clark of Los Angeles before the special senate investigating committee.

The sum of $32,217.31 was spent in the two efforts, said Clark, who is president of the Anti-Single Tax league, and a director of the Better America federation. Mrs. Bernice Johnson, Los Angeles clubwoman, was another witness, and testified she spent $7523 in connection with opposition to the two measures. Most of that amount was for her own services, she said. The committee, which is inquiring into the campaign expenditures for and against propositions at the November ballot, will continue its hearings tomorrow.

Uncover Skeletons of 30 Victims of Early Religious War

PARIS, March 16.—Thirty skeletons, believed to be those of men, women and children, walled up alive during the religious wars in the time of Henry IV, were discovered today by workmen who broke into two ancient subterranean chambers at Creil, on the outskirts of Paris.

There were marks on the walls where the victims, smothering to death in their living tomb, had scratched with futile finger nails in vain efforts to escape. The very posture of the skeletons told mutely of the death agony of the prisoners.

The police are entirely mystified by the discovery, but are certain the victims were walled up hundreds of years ago.

PHYSICIANS HOLD LENIN TO RECOVER

Soviet Leader Makes Remarkable Gain; Doctors Declare Danger of Death Passed.

MOSCOW, March 16.—Premier Lenin registered remarkable improvement since yesterday, the United Press was officially informed today.

"The doctors state that danger of death is absolutely passed," official advice from the Red Cross government telegraph agency, announced. "They are convinced that the present affliction of arm, leg and tongue, from which the premier is suffering, gradually will disappear."

Reports that Lenin, Trotsky, was minister, is suffering from a deadly disease, were denied.

KILLEN ENTERS RACE IN FIRST WARD

That Frank E. will have opposition in his candidacy for councilman from the First ward became definitely known today, when Claude L. Killen filed with City Clerk Ed Vegely his nominating petition.

A nominating petition was also filed by Edgar L. Finch, who is a candidate for election to the office of city recorder.

With next Tuesday as the last day for filing petitions, it is expected men with candidacy bees buzzing around their heads will declare themselves. Whether there are possible candidates who are waiting for the final hour, is not known, except possibly in one or two cases. The possibilities are Mayor John G. Mitchell and Councilman W. A. Greenleaf, neither of whom has definitely stated whether he will seek re-election.

Friends of Killen today expressed themselves as pleased at his final determination to enter the race in the First ward.

Killen is superintendent of the manufacturing plant of the Santa Ana Sugar company, and has been a resident of Santa Ana for the past five years.

They point out that in his position as superintendent of the plant he is directly responsible for the economical operation of the big mill. He is recognized as a man experienced in economical handling of big projects, and his friends point to this qualification as one that would be of the greatest value to the board of trustees.

Before coming to Santa Ana Killen had experience in civic affairs at La Junta, Colo., where he, as a civil engineer, assisted in city planning programs and in the development and administration of parks.

TREASURY BULGING WITH TAX PAYMENTS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, March 16.—Preliminary reports from federal tax collectors indicate that the American people paid slightly in excess of $400,000,000 in income taxes yesterday, treasury officials said today.

The total may reach $420,000,000, which would be $27,000,000 greater than the amount received on the same date last year.

The tax returns made yesterday call for an annual payment of nearly $1,500,000,000, it was estimated.

TENNESSEE FARM BUREAU TO CONDUCT 1923 FAIR

Association Directorate Adjourns Meeting Here Since Die

Virtually turning the management of the county fair project over to the farm bureau, the directors of the Orange County Fair association late yesterday adjourned since die.

This was done on the recommendation of a committee of which C. L. Crumrine, of La Habra, was chairman, and upon information that indicated the desire on the part of the farm bureau to handle the fair.

At the same time it became known that the farm bureau directors had recently passed a resolution endorsing Dixon W. Tubbs for appointment as general manager for the fair. A communication to that effect was read at the meeting of the directors of the Orange County Fair association.

The reason for yesterday's action, it was explained today, was that there were divergent views concerning the policies to be followed in handling the fair.

It was known that the farm bureau representatives felt that no less than $4500 should be set aside in the budget to be used as prizes for exhibits of agricultural and horticultural products. J. A. Smiley, West Orange, and Dr. J. R. Schofield, Buena Park, as representatives of the Farm Bureau on the directorate of the fair association, had previously reported that the bureau directors believed that the backbone of the fair lies in its farm exhibits and that $4500 was none too large an amount to be distributed in prizes.

On the belief that the fair is essentially a farm show, and recognizing the position that the farm bureau holds in relation to the farming interests of the county, the directors of the fair association came to the conclusion that the management of the fair logically should be with the farm bureau.

The report of the Crumrine committee, of which J. A. Smiley, president of the farm bureau, was a member, made yesterday afternoon, recommended that the fair association close up its affairs and adjourn.

"That is what we did," said W. B. Williams, president of the fair association. "We paid all of our bills, and adjourned since die."

While the farm bureau directors have had no opportunity to meet and vote upon the question as to whether the farm bureau will undertake the management of a county fair next fall, it is generally understood by those in touch with the situation that the directors of the farm bureau will act favorably upon the project.

SPECIALIST IS SUMMONED FOR JUDGE WEST

Although still suffering considerably, Superior Judge Z. B. West today was reported as slightly improved from an illness which late yesterday afternoon seized him suddenly while he was motoring to Santa Ana and which caused him to be brought to his residence at 1210 North Ross street from Los Angeles in an ambulance last night. A specialist was to arrive here today to take charge of the case.

Accompanied by his son, Franklin, and his niece, Miss Stella Groff, Judge West went to Los Angeles to attend a directors' meeting. Although he complained of feeling a little dizzy on the way he laid this to indigestion.

While in the offices of R. C. Gortner, attorney for the Southern Pacific company, in the Pacific Electric building, Judge West fainted. He was quickly revived, however, and after resting for several hours insisted on returning to Santa Ana.

He was again stricken while just leaving Los Angeles.

Germans Wreck Rail Bridges to Halt Movement of Trains

DUSSELDORF, March 16.—One French soldier was killed and three wounded and several German railroad workers injured as sabotage swept the Ruhr today.

Bridges were bombed and attempts made to wreck trains in several parts of the occupied areas.

An explosion destroyed a bridge across the Stawarz-vach river. Another occurred near Wedau station.

Collision of a French troop train and a merchandise train was caused by tampering with a switch in the Trier region.

Sabotage also was directed against telephone and telegraph lines.

RULING WILL FIX LIMIT IN CIDER 'KICK'

Daugherty Soon to Issue Decision Covering Snag in Volstead Law Operation.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—A ruling will be rendered soon by Attorney General Daugherty fixing the amount of "kick" that may be allowed to accumulate in cider and unfermented fruit juices before the processes of nature make them in violation of the Volstead law, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes has informed Representative Hill of Maryland.

The decision which will affect the cider of thousands of farmers throughout the country and the fruit juice mixtures of the city dwellers, has been delayed for several months.

NUNS SAVE 350 FROM FLAMES IN HOSPITAL

MONTREAL, March 16.—Lives of 350 patients in the hospital for incurables were menaced when flames raged the structure during the night.

Attendants and nuns rescued every patient in the hospital without injury to any while the fire completely destroyed the building, causing damage estimated at nearly a million dollars.

The incurables were marshalled out and cared for by nuns, who were in charge of the hospital and who took the rescued patients to the Grey Nunnery nearby.

When the fire was discovered, Father M. D. Lafreniere, chaplain of the institution, rushed to the chapel and removed the blessed sacrament which he took to a nearby church.

Life size statues of the blessed virgin, Christ and St. Anthony, and other art treasures were carried from the building and stood in the snow at a safe distance.

The patients for the most part showed a marked degree of coolness and one woman, whose illness is incurable, said: "Take someone else out first. I'm not worth it."

Most of the patients are suffering from cancer, tuberculosis and epilepsy. Some had to be removed on their cots.

ALGUNS PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO SLAYING

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—"Little Phil" Alguin, alleged slayer of Detective Sergeant John J. Fitzgibbon, pleaded not guilty to the charge when his long-delayed arraignment took place in Judge Aver's court today. Trial was set for April 30.

Alguin was brought back to the United States in a "denotation swap" for Herbert and Fernando Uribe, sons of a Mexican official. They were held on charges of auto theft, but were freed after charges were filed and were allowed to "swear" across the border.

Herbert's wife, Catherine Uribe, beautiful Polite dancer, is still here, and although she was largely responsible for Alguin's capture, is interesting herself in his defense. "In order to see that he gets fair treatment," she declares.

NINE KILLED IN DEBRIS OF HOMES

Fire and Destruction of Wire Lines Increases Suffering

(By United Press Leased Wire)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16.—The town of Savage, Miss., was levelled by a cyclone which struck there during the night, according to refugees who reached Memphis today. Nearly a score of persons were injured when the storm struck, Miss Donnybell Gann of Strayhorn declared when she arrived here with her sister, Mrs. H. M. Rich of Savage. They reported a number of persons were missing.

Later reports stated five persons had been killed at Savage and at Pritchard.

With the finding of the bodies of two negro babies in a field near Savage late today, the total of known dead was raised to nine.

When the cyclone struck the town, entire families were blown into the river and some may have been swept to death, Mrs. Rich said.

Mrs. Rich declared her home was blown a block and deposited in the river by the gale.

Seven members of the family of Cyrus Mabry, a neighbor, were tossed in the stream when their home was blown about. Mabry managed to save a daughter, 10, one son, aged 12, and his sister-in-law, but other members of the family are among the missing.

Mabry rescued Mrs. Rich from the icy water and she was rushed here by her sister for medical attention.

A number of injured whites have been rushed to Crenshaw, Miss., for treatment.

The storm area was cut off from wire communications with other towns and only meagre details of the extent of the storm were available. Rescue workers were rushing into the district.

Herando, Miss., sustained a loss estimated at $75,000 when every house in the village of 1,000 inhabitants was reported razed. Fire, which followed the storm, destroyed five stores, advised here said.

MCGORMICK AND BRIDE LEAVE FOR EAST

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN DIEGO, March 16.—Today Harold and Ganna Walska McCormick are on their way to their old Chicago home apparently as light spirited as a bride and groom of 20 and 18.

A United Press correspondent who rode the first few miles in their special car had a merry time with them.

"Are you happy?" he inquired of the Chicago millionaire and his Polish opera star bride.

"Don't we look it?" was McCormick's response.

The McCormicks today gave up the mansion McCormick rented when he came here alone two weeks ago. They took a lease on an observation car on the San Diego and Arizona railroad and made the first part of their homeward journey through Mexico.

"We won't be interviewed," each of them said.

McCormick was gay and boyish. He laughed frequently and when the train stopped at the Mexican border directed his wife's attention to a fleet of airplanes far overhead.

Ganna Walska, too, was in the best of spirits. She wore a chic brown travelling suit and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

They declined to talk of Ganna Walska's operatic plans.

Tomorrow Is Last Day To Register For Election on Charter

Mr. and Mrs. Unregistered Voter.

If you desire to vote at the charter election April 17, you must register with the county clerk before noon tomorrow.

A registered voter who has moved from one precinct to another must make a transfer, and the last hour for doing so will be at noon tomorrow.

City Clerk Ed Vegely announced today that he would not be in position to register voters at his office tomorrow, and this makes the office of the county clerk the only place at which a voter may register or transfer.

Vegely pointed out that with the number of registrations made for the municipal election, it is not likely there will be many last minute registrations.

SOUTHWEST STATES IN STORM GRIP

Temperature Falls Below Zero and Heavy Damage Done as Gale Hits Vast Area.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 16.—High winds, snow and freezing temperatures were reported today from various sections of the south and southwest.

The brunt of the storm, which came out of the north, struck Mississippi, where high winds caused heavy property damage and serious injury to a number of persons.

Snow was general from Colorado to Arkansas and from Nebraska to Texas. Gales in Texas sent the thermometer to forty degrees while a near blizzard was reported in the Panhandle.

Western Kansas received a much needed rain and snow, and as a result the winter wheat crop was greatly benefited.

Trains, however, were not seriously delayed and wire communications were but slightly effected.

BAY CITIES TO HONOR STATE LEGISLATORS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Leaving the cares of budget hearings, committee meetings and investigations behind them, California legislators and their families boarded a special train here early today for a three days' visit in the bay cities of San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley.

Today the party will be entertained at the University of California with a luncheon and program this afternoon. Tonight a banquet honoring the legislators will be given at a San Francisco hotel. Tomorrow will be spent in a trip around the bay, while Oakland will be the host tomorrow night and Sunday.

Estimated on the number of bills passed out by committees and on the progress made by the budget hearing and other investigations under way, the week has been a particularly active one in the legislature.

Quiz Board Chairman.

The joint budget consideration yesterday afternoon for the first time brought Chairman Gilbert Daniels of the board of control before the legislature. He was questioned by opponents of the Richardson economy budget with regard to the $88,000,000 estimate he prepared as contrasted with the governor's $79,000,000 document.

However, opponents of the Richardson budget found in Chairman Daniels a conservative witness and confessed they gained little from him to strengthen their attacks on the administration.

Simon J. Lubin, member of the immigration and housing commission asked retention of this department, which the administration has combined with other agencies, he declared, cannot suitably handle the work.

Aid For Veterans.

Harry E. Speas, director of the state veterans' home, was roundly applauded following his speech pleading for additional aid for this institution. Speas declared that the board of control had included the federal appropriation of $140,000 given to the home's support, in the state appropriation without the knowledge of the directors and that the 800 war veterans there will suffer as a consequence.

He refuted the budget statement that the institution is caring for only 600 men by showing a late official report from the secretary giving the population as 809. No member of the present board of control has visited the home.

'SNAKE' IN RAIDS ON 4 HOMES

Striking Swiftly, Silently, Burglar Makes Rich Haul In S. A.

BEAUTY KEEPS WATCH AS MAN ROBS, BELIEF

Skeleton Key Is Used to Gain Entrance Into One Residence

A "snake burglar," striking silently and swiftly, said to have been a well-dressed young man who was accompanied by a pretty girl, was today held responsible for a series of daring daylight invasions here late yesterday, all occurring within a half hour, in which jewelry and other articles valued at more than $4,000 were stolen.

In every instance the burglar entered the home during the absence of occupants, and, working with lightning speed, ransacked the place and departed with valuables.

The burglaries occurred at the residences of:

C. E. Hilton, 501 South Birch street, $200.

Margaret Egge, 414 South Birch street, $150.

R. E. Coulter, 424 South Birch street, $4,025.

J. C. Winans, 501 South Broadway, $26.

The Coulter home was entered about 5 p. m., during the absence of Mrs. Coulter. Entrance was gained through the rear door, which the burglar unlocked with a skeleton key. Virtually every drawer and box in the house was opened, and articles rejected as worthless were scattered about. Valuable silverware was examined, but left behind.

Thirty-seven shares of Southern California Edison company stock, valued at $100 a share, constituted the chief loss there. A diamond ring, valued at $200, a platinum and diamond ring, Tiffany setting, worth $100, a pearl ring and deeds to the house and property were also taken, according to Mrs. Coulter.

Mrs. Coulter Absent

Mrs. Coulter was at the home of a neighbor during the entire afternoon, she said. A family living in the same house with the Coulters failed to notice any disturbance.

At the Hilton home, the burglar stole a new white-gold wrist watch, and a valuable collection of old coins.

A garnet ring, a diamond ring with a ruby attached, a watch and plain ring were stolen at the Egge home.

J. C. Winans, 501 South Broadway, lost a .32 caliber automatic pistol and $1 worth of stamps were taken.

A well dressed, respectable appearing young man, attired in a gray suit and hat, was seen in the neighborhood by several persons, according to City Marshal Claude Rogers, who was directing an investigation today. This man inquired for Coulter at a neighbor's house about 4:45 p. m., and was observed on South Broadway and South Birch streets about that time.

He was accompanied by a girl companion, according to police. The girl, it was believed, acted as a lookout for the man, and may have driven the automobile in which he was supposed to have made his escape.

The unusual feature of the affair was the fact that all of the burglaries were committed within about 30 minutes, and were executed so quickly and so quietly that no one observed the thief at work.

WIFE SLAYING CASE NOW BEFORE JURORS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Henry Wilkens, who for six weeks has been on trial charged with the murder of his wife, Anna Wilkens today awaited a verdict from the jury which has heard his case.

Late yesterday the arguments and instructions were completed and the jury took up its deliberations. Shortly after 11 p. m. it was locked up for the night after having been out five hours.

COMMENT

Chester H. Rowell

roofless, windowless walls stood, a promise or a warning according to the point of view of the spectator.

After the recall of Governor Frasier, some of the more radical conservatives were for leaving the wreck as a permanent monument to "Dakota's Folly," but the better counsel of Governor Nestor prevailed. The credit of the state having been restored, the new government sold the bonds and completed the plant. It is now functioning as a terminal elevator, and has ground some flour.

The most novel of all the public enterprises was a housing bonding corporation, to build private residences with public funds and sell them on credit to individuals. The same pyramided bank credit methods were used, but in addition there were many ordinary business blunders, in purchasing, financing and construction. The enterprise was confessedly mismanaged and is now in liquidation.

There were other enterprises—an experimental mill, local grain elevators and others—which have also been in controversy, but these are the major ones. The subsequent history, various fates and present condition of these enterprises must await another article. (Copyright, 1923, by All Western Syn.)

HUGHES GIVES PLAN TO PAY ARMY COST

PARIS, March 16.—Secretary of State Hughes has before him today the allied plan to pay the costs of the American military occupation of the Rhineland, as telegraphed to him by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Wadsworth, who is conducting the negotiations with the allied financial experts.

The essential features of the plan are: First, to reduce the total by amounts received by the American government from the sale of German ships and the appraised value of those retained by the United States; and, second, to pay the remainder in 12 annual installments out of the future receipts from Germany on the reparations account.

Secretary Hughes' reply is expected in time for the next conference meeting Wednesday.

As the result of a climbing foot in England, an airplane, flying near Gloucestershire, recently reached 20,000 feet in 12 minutes and 24 seconds.

LIMITATIONS
FOR DEBATE
REVIVED

WASHINGTON, March 16.—One result of the successful filibuster against the ship subsidy bill in the Sixty-Seventh Congress will be revival of the attempt to put a reasonable limitation upon debate in the Senate.

This has been tried before and has failed. The failure was due largely to the Senate's jealousy of its freedom of debate. Any limitation upon that freedom has been resented in the past as an effort to gag "the last great free forum in the world," as Senators are fond of calling the Senate.

They have argued that, while the Senate may waste time in talk, its very deliberateness proves the wisdom of the fathers in establishing the Senate as a check upon the House. Were the Senate ruled by its rules as the House is, there would be no legitimate excuse for having a Senate, many argue. It is only by allowing utmost freedom of discussion, it is argued, that that degree of refinement in legislation will be attained which is needed to safeguard the people against hasty or ill-considered measures.

There is nevertheless general recognition that if the Senate goes on as it has done, public business will be almost impossible to perform. And a strong "middle ground" group has grown up in recent years, which believes that some sane, middle position can be attained, which will insure greater efficiency without unduly curtailing Senatorial freedom.

Majority Cloture

One means to be considered in the next Congress will be application of cloture by a majority vote. At present, a two-thirds vote of the Senate is required to put a limitation on debate. Even then, ninety-six hours of discussion is possible, and an even longer time can be consumed by resorting to various subterfuge not scorned by Senators wishing to delay matters.

After a majority had decided that unlimited debate had gone long enough, no Senator would be permitted to speak longer than an hour on the pending question, nor more than once. One suggestion would make the limitation half an hour on a bill and fifteen minutes on any amendment pending or offered.

Another proposal is that of Senator Curtis, Kansas, chairman of the rules committee, one of the least talkative men in the Senate. Curtis would provide that Senators must speak only on the pending business, and that, if called to order, they must at once get back to the proper text or be a second time admonished. If they offend twice, they must sit down and can only speak again by permission of the Senate, given through a vote of the majority. And to prevent such instances being used to aid filibusters, Curtis would have all questions under the proposed rule decided without debate.

He believes such a rule, strictly enforced, would ruin many a filibuster, and would at any rate, immeasurably speed up Senatorial business. There is now no boundary within which a Senator must stay when speaking. His field is the world, no matter what is before the Senate.

Two-Hour Limit

Still a third suggestion for preventing time wasting is a general rule to apply to consideration of all major bills that no Senator shall, without express permission from the Senate, speak longer than two hours on any subject at one time.

But, while modern conditions have given rise to this demand that the Senate be less garrulous and more active, there are those who feel that speeding up of the Senatorial machinery would work harm rather than good to the American people. Among them is Senator Stanley, Democrat of Kentucky, who recently complained that too many laws are enacted by Congress, and that, if the Senate were geared up to greater speed, the multiplicity of laws would be even worse.

And when Stanley said, there might come a time when "he who is born in these United States and keeps the greater part of all the laws and ordinances that are made for our guidance, need never be born again. And in Heaven, the highest place will be reserved for that creature who, from a federally controlled birth to a federally controlled burial, kept all the laws and ordinances now enacted for our Government by the Congress of the United States."

SECURING BERMUDA
FAVORED AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Viscount Burnham's suggestion, made in an interview given out at Havana recently, that the United States might acquire Bermuda and the British West Indies under "certain favorable conditions," is being widely discussed here.

There is a strong sentiment among members of Congress, particularly the senate, in favor of the acquisition of all island territory contiguous to the United States. Army and navy strategists have for years pointed out the military advantage that would be derived from possession of the British islands off the Atlantic seaboard. British authorities here are not certain that Lord Burnham, in raising the question, was speaking with the authority of his government. The point is made, however, that the foreign office has said nothing to counteract the suggestion.

Officials of the British government here let it be known they have received a flood of inquiries from both Bermuda and the West Indies. The majority of these, it is said, are in the form of protest.

BAY CITIES TO HONOR STATE

Spess declared.

With a large delegation from Southern California present, the assembly reappointment committees last night conducted an open hearing on A. B. 739, reapportioning legislative districts along strict constitutional lines.

To Uphold Constitution. Advocates of the measure based their arguments on the same theme—that the constitution directs reapportionment following each census and that the legislators must obey the statutes in this regard or violate their oaths of office.

Assemblyman Baker and Pomerooy were legislative advocates of the measure while it was also supported by William E. Evans, Glendale; H. D. Pottenger, Redondo Beach, and Judge Dana R. Weller, Los Angeles.

Opponents declared that reapportionment would be unjust to the rural districts, would place the balance of power in both houses in the hands of city legislators and should be delayed pending a constitutional amendment which will give one house representation by population and the other according to geographical lines.

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Motor vehicle lobbyists are already commencing to arrive in anticipation of the public hearing on the Breed bill revising the state motor vehicle laws, scheduled for Monday night. In fact, several interested parties have been here all week interviewing legislators and seeking support for or against provisions in the measure.

A delegation of club women claiming to represent 275,000 of their sex in the state conferred with Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce, budget framer, yesterday, regarding school appropriations. Additional support for teachers' colleges were especially stressed. Declaring that Mrs. Pierce gave them no satisfaction, the delegation conferred with Governor Richardson, after which it issued a statement that "we shall have to go back to the people and tell them that another initiative measure is necessary to protect the teacher training institutions."

Senate and assembly judiciary committees have announced a joint hearing on the community property bill for March 28. The measure was debated on the floor of the senate Wednesday but was continued.

Plans are being made for the annual attaches ball, a regular legislative event. "Doc" Whiteside, assembly assistant sergeant at arms, is handling the preparations for the event which he declared would be given on an extensive scale.

With the legislature enjoying a three day outing, considerable lawmakers put through resolutions giving the stenographers and clerks a vacation as well. A number of the attaches and the majority of the newspaper correspondents are members of the party visiting the bay cities over the week end.

BORAH ASKS FREEDOM
FOR WAR PRISONERS

NEW YORK, March 16.—All American war prisoners were convicted on "flimsy testimony" and should be released at once, Senator William E. Borah said today in an interview.

"The continued detention of political prisoners—and they are political prisoners—seems to be a very singular thing," said the senator. "It is now nearly four years since the signing of the armistice. Every European country has released its political prisoners."

SENATOR SHORTRIDGE
ENROUTE TO HIS HOME

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Senator Shortridge is arranging to leave for home this week. He will go direct to San Francisco and after a short rest at his Menlo Park home will make a motor tour of northern California, visiting among other places Eureka, Crescent City and Yreka. The senator is one of a committee appointed by the senate to visit the federal prisons at McNeil Island, Leavenworth and Atlanta for the purpose of devising methods of instituting a system of productive labor among the prisoners. Later in the summer he plans to go to McNeil Island for this purpose and possibly to Leavenworth.

DEPARTMENT CHECKS
DESERTIONS IN NAVY

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Nearly 7000 desertions and discharges without honor from the United States navy department in the last eight months will lead to vigorous steps by the navy department to check an apparent breakdown of morale among enlisted personnel, it was learned officially this afternoon.

Rev. Fairbanks B. Stockdale, of Bayside, L. I., is making a study of the chicken language. Rev. Stockdale claims he can now distinguish 21 different sounds.

Blueprints

By Berton Briley
These are the charts of dreams that shall come true.
These are the plans from which there shall arise
Towers that lift their heads against the skies,
Ships for wide seas, and planes
to ride the blue.
Floods shall obey, tunnels be driven through Eternal rock, the wilderness that lies Unpeopled, shall awake to high empires
And all the world shall be made over new.

Under the magic guidance of these charts,
Marking in lines and figures
what the brain
Of man conceived. They are a mystic key
To unimagined riches, lovelier
arts,
To homes we seek and goals we shall attain,
These blueprint epics of the days to be!

COLLEGE GRADS RELIGIOUS.

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 16.—Fifty per cent of the college graduates turned out today are religiously speaking, either pagans or radicals, according to Rev. Dr. Albert Parker Fitch, professor of religious history at Amherst college.

"These pagans and radicals are unconsciously mercenary because of the influence that they have during their lives. They are the result of the breakdown of religious education in churches," he said. Dr. Fitch divides college students into five classes:

- 1—"Unconformists who believe in the old order of religion.
- 2—"Young Humanitarians, who are strong for social service work.
- 3—"Young institutionalists who desire that all the old institutions of the church be maintained.
- 4—"Pagans, who are becoming more numerous each year.
- 5—"Radicals who are the product of a machine controlled world."

Frank Chance has issued orders prohibiting his Boston Red Sox players from engaging in golf during the training or playing season.
Chance has had enough experience and met with enough success on the diamond to make his opinion carry weight and he believes that golf has nothing in it to help a baseball player.

This brings up an old argument that never will be settled.

MAGICAL BEAUTIFIERS FOR WOMEN

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that they affect only the surface. The true requisite of beauty is health. Without it the steps lack, eyes are listless, dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women.
There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which nearly fifty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ill. Why not let it restore you to health and beauty and the joy of living?—adv.

NEWS BRIEFS

Rapidly approaching the $1,000-000 mark, Santa Ana's building total for 1923 today had reached $773,771, as represented by 372 permits issued, according to records of W. S. Decker, building inspector. Seventy-seven permits have been issued this month to date for a building value, the records showed, of $138,604.

Initial steps in the opening of the membership campaign of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce were to be taken late today with the arrival here of Charles P.
Bayer, manager of the organization department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, according to J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber, here.

Mrs. Nellie B. Kirk, 46, wife of W. M. Kirk, 2201 North Baker street, died today after having been a resident of Santa Ana for fourteen years. Mrs. Kirk was a native of Florida. She is survived by her husband and three children,
a daughter in San Bernardino, one in Fresno and a young son yet at home. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the Smith and Tuthill chapel, with burial to follow in Fairhaven cemetery.

Plans for the American Hotel-men's association convention in Los Angeles in May were formulated at a meeting of the Southern California Hotelmen's association in Los Angeles yesterday, according to G. A. Schweiger, manager of St. Ann's Inn, who had returned here today following attendance at the meeting.

Influenza has depleted the faculty organizations of Santa Ana schools, it was learned today at the office of the city superintendent of schools, J. A. Cranston. A number of teachers are confined to their homes, and it was reported,
the list of substitute teachers has been exhausted in the effort to keep classes on schedule.

Eight hundred Santa Anans waited until the last day to file their income tax returns, according to an estimate made today by A. B.
Pitche, deputy collector of internal revenue, today. "The last return was filed by a man and his wife at five minutes to twelve last night," Pitche said. "A few delinquents filed returns with written excuses today." W. A. Cornelius, internal revenue agent, was helping Pitche make his reports today, following which work he will return to corporation audit work, he said. He asked that it be emphasized that he would have no further connection with the collector's office.

J. A. Cranston, city school superintendent, as delegate of the Santa Ana Teachers' league, today was in Oakland attending a mass meeting in protest against slashes of educational appropriations made in the Governor's budget. Representatives from virtually all California schools, and in addition delegates from civic societies, women's clubs, and other organizations were in attendance.
Will C. Wood, state school supertendent, was to address the meeting.

Phillips Gerrard, 9, a member of Santa Ana Christian church, is the first boy in the state of California to qualify in the Junior Christian Endeavor Four-square contest. A Junior rally of Christian Endeavor societies will be held Sunday afternoon at that church. The society having the banner attendance at these Junior meetings, closing with Sunday, will be awarded the county Junior C. E. banner. The Rev. Frank A. Miller of Los Angeles is giving a series of chalk talks to the Juniors.

Three representatives, Wild Adams, Julian Baires, Charles Miller, of the Santa Ana Junior college and senior high school "Y" clubs will attend the Southern California vocational guidance "Y" conference at Ontario tomorrow.
T. P. McKee, community secretary, announced today. Professor L. R.
McMullen of the junior college will convey the boys by automobile to the conference. The return will be made Sunday afternoon, McKee said.

That cigarettes do not contribute to manhood, was the outstanding feature of James Walton's talk before the Santa Ana high school students at assembly late yesterday. Walton is secretary of the Anti-Cigarette League of California. Miss Lella Watson directed the French playlet that was presented as part of the entertainment program. Miss Lauretta Phillips gave an xylophone solo, and numbers were sung by the boys' quartette.

Christner, aged 85, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. L.
Pugh, 320 West Commonwealth

which the remains were shipped to erton, Christner had been residing with his daughter. He had been ill for some time. He is survived by nine daughters and four sons,

WOMAN SENT TO JAIL.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.— Mrs. Etta Chappell went to jail tonight for two hundred and fifty days—the first San Francisco woman to be convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated. She was sentenced today to pay a fine of $2500 or serve a jail sentence of ten months and two women had been found guilty.

Her automobile, it was charged,
had struck and killed Thomas Eckhart here last August.
"I have only a little money," she told the court. "I want to go to jail."

RADIO BILL BY BEACH TALENT
BIG SUCCESS

Huntington Beach talent presented a fine radio program last night over KFAW, The Register's broadcasting station.

Nine excellent numbers were given and they ranged from popular to classical selections.
Charles C. Overbury, who arranged the program, made a big hit with a song of his own composition called "Sunny, Southern California" and a trio composed of Miss Pothoff, violin; Dr. Ewing, clarinet; and Mrs. Hale, piano, proved an outstanding feature of the evening's entertainment.

Ray McIntosh gave two tenor solos and rma. H. A. Bowman offered a soprano solo.

Several instrumental numbers and a reading by Charles C. Over-bury completed the Huntington Beach program, which must have pleased all those who were tuned in.

Laguna Beach will provide the next program, which will be offered next Monday night over

FRENCH PUBLIC IS RELUCTANT IN BUYING

PARIS, March 16. Charitable organizations such as that headed by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt are helping Russian women refugees in Paris to sell their handwork, but during the last few months the attitude of the public toward the refugees has undergone a marked change, and the prices now offered for beautiful specimens of Russian embroidery are limited to the minimum that the purchaser thinks the hungry Russians will accept.
Scores of these families living in single rooms in the poorer quarters of the world's gayest capital are accepting almost any sort of home work, for which they are paid daily just enough to buy bread and a bottle of wine, vegetables,
and once a week meat or fish.
These also are confronted with the problem of meeting increased rentals, which will be applied in the poorer districts not later than June.

An effort was made to organize a society which would advance funds sufficient to establish the workers in a village outside Paris, where each Russian would have a one-room cement cottage and a small garden. This would have solved the problem, but when some of the more prosperous Russians who either had brought their own or other wealth from Russia or had succeeded in entering French business circles were asked to contribute they flatly refused and advised their compatriots to go to work.

Therefore French society is abandoning the Russians and as a result some of the old high Russian society have renounced belief in the divinity of the former royal line and actually are collaborating with the Bolsheviks in an endeavor to restore trade relations with France.

Many of the successful business men of today are paying side-door calls at the offices of Skobeleff, the Soviet trade representative
here, who gives them deals to carry through on a commission basis with a liberality not to be found among their own former associates.

DIFFERENT STORY

BEATRICE, Neb., March 14.—
Adalbert Thieglend, 19, has arrived from Germany to make his home with Peter Hardy, his uncle, who resides near Adams. The young man states that conditions are fair
in Germany, with work plentiful, but pay not large. He says that there is little or no suffering except in the Ruhr valley. He tells of earning a wage of 150,000 marks per month at his work of shipbuilding and states that his father was paid eight million marks a year for his services as a teacher.

BABY BITTEN BY RAT

WHITE LAKE, S. D., March 16.—
The 15-month-old baby of Mr.
and Mrs. Michael Hanten of this city, nearly lost its life as the result of being bitten by a rat. The child, while sleeping, had one of its fingers mutilated by a rat, there also being teeth marks on the baby's face. After a few days blood poisoning developed and the child was taken to a hospital. Inly by operating and making incisions and putting in drain tubes was the malady halted in time to have the baby's life.

WHEN Tut-ankh-amen was a youngster they had already learned that the camel was mercifully covered with a silky hair that kept out the extremes of tropical midday heat and a midnight cold. The Egyptians made the hair of the camel into garments for themselves. Now the idea has become an American fad, and when camelhair itself is not employed, its colors are simulated.

Pharaoh's daughter, though a princess, had nothing in her wardrobe quite as fascinating as a 1923 Camels-hair Coat, with full fashioned back, large collar, set-in sleeves—or one with round, close collar, inverted pockets, and cuffs.

Sports Skirts of Camelhair, with dark brown or blue stripes, folded plait down one side, large buttons—one with cable stitching, large buttons, inverted pockets.

Camel color slip-on sweaters—in fancy weaves and mohair.

Camel color Egyptian Jacquette overblouses, Egyptian bands highly embroidered.

Camel color sports hose with plain cuffs—and Camel color silk hose with lisle tops.

No sooner shall the camel pass through the eye of the needle than you shall escape the lure of Camelhair
—real Camel's hair—especially in the new coats.

What You Can Do With the Deauville Scarf

It may be worn with studied carelessness with the knot on the left shoulder. Or it may be used occasionally to brighten your hat for it makes a striking trimming.

The scarf makes a headdress with sports dresses or bathing suits. Imagine an all white summer frock with this gay scarf for its sash!

As for the tiny 'kerchiefs they are most popularly worn as wristlets but the more daring may wear it as an anklet instead.
They are pretty, too, when peaking from the breast-pockets of tailored and sports suits—a point that even the men might take note of. $2.50 to $7.00.

DEVELOPMENTS OF AVIATION
BY RADIO

WASHINGTON, March 16.— Aviation by radio is one of the startling early developments of air travel predicted by Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the air service of the United States army, in a communication to the National Geographic Society.

"Aeronautics is progressing
most rapidly at this time both from a scientific standpoint—as far as the development of flying machines of all kinds is concerned —and also in the art of actually handling and flying planes," General Mitchell writes.

Can Rise Vertically
"A speed of 200 miles an hour has been accomplished. To rise vertically from the ground is an accomplished fact. We are able to fly at night, through the storms and through the fog. Our worst enemy is fog, near the ground, and even there we are making progress in eliminating fog over our landing fields.

"Radio telegraphy makes it possible for us to talk from plane to plane, from the ground to the plane, and from the plane to the ground. Radio is also able to guide us to our landing fields or to any place that we desire to go.
In fact, airplanes can be sent on long journeys with no living pilots
in them, but controlled by gyro-scopic instruments. These automatically controlled airplanes rise from the ground and fly at whatever altitude is set.

"In addition, by the aid of radio impulses, their courses may be changed or, if blown off the course by the wind, they may be brought back to it. Airplanes may be controlled by radio from the air as well as from the ground, so that it is entirely within the realm of possibility that an airplane, with its crew, may start out and control a number of others flying near and around it.

"Aircraft are the only things in existence that are able to deliver their cargoes at a station in the air. Nothing can compete with them in this respect, so that, from a military standpoint, when it is desired to deliver a bomb, gun, or observer, wherever they will have the most effect on an enemy, aircraft have no equals.

"Each day sees an increase in the radius of action of the airplane. In our own air service the airplane has remained aloft for thirty-five hours and covering that time has covered some 3000 miles.
The distance from Ireland to New foundland is only 1700 miles. One of the great Zeppelin airships turned out by the Germans could carry sufficient fuel to go around the world at the latitude of New York.

Operating Cost Reduced
"From a commercial standpoint,
as a means of transportation for passengers and freight, the airplane is expensive, but the saving in time is tremendous. Gradually the operating cost is being reduced, so that aerial means of transportation are becoming more and more able to compete with transportation on land and water.

"During this year our own postoffice department will establish a mail service between New York and San Francisco and will make the trip in twenty-seven hours,
total elapsed time.

"The public, in general, has a misconception of the dangers incident to aviation. Military aviation will always be dangerous, because the aircraft employed must have the greatest speed, the greatest gun power and the greatest lifting capacity. These things are strained to the limit so we may be able to compete with possible enemies;
also, in order to be able to support each other, military airplanes
have to fly in close formations, through all kinds of weather and under all conditions.

—Safely Than Land Travel

"On the other hand, commercial aircraft may be constructed with slow landing speeds, large factors of safety, and with reliable motors that weigh a little bit more than the military engines. The airways, with their landing fields, weather service and radio telegraphy between airmen, may be so organized that they will give more security than the railways with their block systems, switches and repair facilities.

"In Europe the commercial air-service, carrying passengers and freight, has operated more miles with fewer casualties than have the railways during the past year.

"The airplane really originated in the United States and today we hold world's altitude record, the world's endurance record and the world's speed record."

HARMONY CASH
BIG NEEDS OF DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The Democratic national organization is already hard at work on the 1924. Presidential and Congressional campaign.

Into every state has gone the word that a two-fold campaign must be begun at once to consolidate and increase the gains registered in the 1922 Congressional election, so that in 1924 the Democrats will regain control of the government. This double campaign will be aimed to secure:

1—Money.

2—Harmony.

Money is put first, because Democratic leaders realize it will be comparatively much easier to get than the party harmony they so greatly desire, but do not exactly know how to achieve, under the present order of things. It is put first also because leaders realize that without it, they will be powerless in such a fight as is looming a little more than a year from now.

Leaders Get Busy.

Discussion of ways and means has already taken place here between Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National committee, and Harrison Nesbit, chief financial adviser of the party chiefs.
Hull will from now on make a number of trips into various sections, partly to discuss financial matters and partly to talk organization, party spirit and the promotion of party harmony.

Democratic leaders, while they express in public confidence of complete unity in 1924, just as the Republicans do, are, among themselves, full cognizant of the danger to themselves in the existing party disunion. This grows out of the presidential aspirations, real or reputed, of various men.

These various presidential candidates are not themselves responsible for the lack of harmony. But some of their followers are. They are constantly alert to prevent any adherents of another candidate, real or potential, from getting an advantage within the party. There is constant pulling and hauling, trivial in itself, and not in any visible way of affecting the actual leadership of the party as centered in Chairman Hull and his chief lieutenants. But it is visible when the national committee itself gets together.

The fight for Democratic leadership of the senate is one evidence of this. That fight is virtually over, for Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas has clear sailing for the place, but that fact does not mean that Senate Democrats are united.

Senator Robinson will win, unless all pledges given him are false,
but that will not give him the united backing of the Democrats in the new senate, any more than Senator Underwood had it, or Senator Hitchcock before him.

Many Candidates
While the Republican leaders have served notice that there is to be no scrambling in their convection for the nomination, the next Democratic convention promises,

at this distance, to be as scrappy
as a conclave was the last one,
when a whole flock of candidates hung on and on, refusing to let go of their votes. McAdoo, Smith, New York; Underwood, for whom a real fight probably will be made;
John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain; former Justice Clark of Ohio; Senator Pom-erene, of Ohio, and Mr. Cox, the unsuccessful nominee in 1922, are all listed.

From which it will readily appear even to the most casual observer, that the big Democratic problem is getting together.

PLANS TO HAIL
CONGRESSMEN
ARE SPEEDED

While the congressional party of forty persons was being entertained elsewhere in Southern California today, J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, was preparing plans to receive the party here Wednesday afternoon.

DEPARTMENTS CRITICIZING ALLOWANCES

SACRAMENTO, March 15.—Additional opinions concerning the state administration's economy budget for the next biennium were scheduled to be unfolded before the senate and assembly, meeting in joint session this afternoon.

Present yesterday, but due to lack of time, unable to be heard, officials of the Advisory Pardon board, California School for Girls, Bureau of Criminal Identification, Veterans' Home and possibly another department or two are expected to discuss appropriations for their respective offices today.

The hearing yesterday afternoon failed to develop any pyrotechnic tendencies, such as have featured those of previous days.

Walter G. Mathewson, state labor commissioner; Curtis D. Wilbur, chief justice of the supreme court; Dr. W. M. Dickie, secretary of the state board of health and Mrs. Elythe Tate-Thompson, director of the tuberculosis bureau, spoke on and were questioned concerning the budget for their respective departments.

FINISH FIGHT PROMISED IN HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT ROW

With appointment by R. C. Bell, president of the Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce, Mayor J. J. Schaefer, J. P. Gray and Lew H. Wallace as a committee to investigate the legal situation as to possible maintenance of an injunction suit against the Santa Ana board of education to prevent that body from carrying out its program to erect a junior high school in Santa Ana, it became known today that the beach residents are not opposed to the erection of the building, but to the fact that if the Santa Ana high school board creates a junior high school district of the present high school district, the outside grammar school districts, will be compelled to send seventh and eighth grade pupils to the Santa Ana schools.

Wallace declared that the beach residents would carry the fight to the court of last resort before they would submit to enforcement of a regulation that would make it compulsory for them to send seventh and eighth grade pupils to the Santa Ana junior high school.

"Not Fighting S. A."

"We are not fighting Santa Ana and are in no way opposed to the high school district as now organized," said Wallace. "We do not desire to have to send children of the age of seventh and eighth grade pupils the distance we will have to send them, if the junior high school district is formed and the junior high school is established as proposed."

"We propose employing the best legal advisor we can procure and we will go into the fight to win, if we have to go to law in order to avert what we believe would develop into a serious situation."

"We voted for the high school bonds in the belief that the building to be erected would be used as a high school. We did not know at the time that if the junior high school district was created we would have to send our seventh and eight grade pupils to the school. This feature was presented to us at the meeting of the Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening by O. H. Ensign, principal of our schools. He made the statement on authority of R. P. Mitchell, superintendent of Orange county schools."

Mitchell said today that creation of a junior high school district gives the school board jurisdiction over the seventh, eighth and ninth grades of all grammar districts embraced in the junior high school district, with the result that it would become obligatory upon parents of outside districts to send seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils to the junior high school.

Mitchell pointed to approval, by expert bond attorneys, of the bonds voted for the district as evidence that the high school district was legally organized, and declared his belief that residents of outside districts could not maintain an injunction against the Santa Ana high school board in its program of building a junior high school.

See Complications.

Mitchell further pointed out that failure of the Santa Ana high school board to create a junior high school district might complicate the situation if the board attempted to use the proposed new building as a junior high school. Creation of a junior high school district, however, Mitchell said, is but a matter of the adoption of a resolution by the board of education, an action that can be taken at any time.

Expressing his personal opinion, Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the Santa Ana board of education, said that probably the easiest solution of the problem would be for the board to maintain the new building strictly as a high school, with each of the grammar districts maintaining seventh and eighth grades in their schools.

BRITAIN IS NOT STRONG IN AIR REVEALED

LONDON, March 16.—The third annual conference of British aviation in the Guildhall recently served to call England's attention to the alarming condition of the nation's military strength in the air.

Even with the addition to the air force as announced last summer, Great Britain will have only thirty-two squadrons for home defense, as compared with the 220 squadrons which France has backed by a reserve of more than 500 machines in civil aviation.

The time is past when the insularity of England assured her of safety from invasion. As the London Times puts it: "The past history and the present political structure of the British empire have been determined largely by conditions of geographical discontinuity, but our future is likely to be determined by the success with which we adapt ourselves to the new possibilities of swift movement through the continuous air."

The biggest navy in the world can no longer keep from the island kingdom an aerial fleet bearing deadly explosives to drop from the air upon helpless cities and perhaps even carrying invading troops. The channel is no longer England's barrier as in the time of Napoleon.

At the end of the war Britain was supreme in the air. She had the best machines, the largest fleet, and excellently trained personnel. The industry was highly organized. Airplanes, engines and the most delicate scientific instruments accessory to flying could be produced in great quantity of high quality and with astonishing speed. Since then, however, a slump has intervened, and now Britain is far behind. In civil aviation England has only four regular services, whereas from Berlin and Paris air routes radiate in all directions.

England views with alarm, the rapid strides the French are making in this industry. In the first eleven months of 1922 alone 3300 machines were built in France. The big commercial firm of England, on the other hand, are carrying on with heavy financial sacrifices.

The admiralty, thoroughly aroused over the situation, is determined to save Great Britain's fleet of airships by including in the year's estimates the sum of 230,000 pounds as a subsidy for this purpose. In this it is encountering the stiff opposition of the treasury, which is bent upon economizing.

JURY FAILS TO ACT IN BASTROP MURDERS

BOSTON, La., March 16.—Bills of information against persons charged with complicity in the reign of terror here were considered by state officials today following failure of a grand jury to return indictments for the murder of Watt Daniel and Thomas Richards and other outlaws.

The grand jury, in a report handed to Judge Fred Odom last night declared it had investigated the murders and other alleged crimes by hooded mobs and failed to find grounds for indictments.

Orientalia Is Shown Interested Members Of Creative Arts

Art treasures of the Orient, collected over a period of several years by Mr. Fred Rafferty, occupied the interested attention of members and guests of the Creative Arts club meeting last night at the Rafferty home on East Tenth street.

In arranging that his guests
might gain a comprehensive idea of the entire collection the host divided the company into three groups, placing one in charge of Miss Charlotte Dresser who led the way to the library where Japanese prints, paintings on silk, innumerable photographs, block prints and lovely textiles including many fine examples of batik were shown.

In the diningroom with Robert Northcross acting as "guide, philosopher and friend," rare books on the Orient with many examples of Chinese and Japanese art in bound volumes, quaint little books of fairy-tales on fine crepe paper, rare old documents written on palm leaves and a beautiful display of satsuma, cloisonne and other rare examples of pottery were examined by the second group.

Mr. Rafferty with the third group entered the Oriental room whose wall decorations of quaint Chinese scenes were almost hidden by the rare tapestries, embroideries and intricate carvings there displayed. Examined were Chinese idols in heavy teak-wood a small temple bell who singing tones once sounded in the interior of China (do you hear "the temple bells a-ringing?") carved ivory like delicate frozen lace, amber, jade, musical instruments, mandarin caps,
and finally the beautiful robes, mandarin coats and even one ceremonial garment woven and embroidered for the sacred person of the emperor himself, in the days before the Dragon Kingdom became a republic.

It was with reluctance that the groups advanced from room to room for in each place they left quantities of beautiful things of which they had not seen half enough. And it was at a late hour that the conversations demanded the meeting be adjourned. Mr. Rafferty proved a fascinating host and his informal talks on the treasures which his collection affords, were as interesting as the articles themselves.

Sharing the unusual evening with the host were Miss Beulah Mar, Miss Edith Patton, Miss Evelynne Nunn, Miss Doris Hutchins, Miss Jennie Lasby, Miss Mabel
Whiting, Miss Charlotte Dresser,
Mrs. Thatchar, Mrs. B. D. Peterson,
Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, and her house-guest Miss Elizabeth Newlands of Lorain, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Northcross and Mr.
and Mrs. A. L. Sortor.

Pro Bono Class

The Pro Bono class of the United Presbyterian church met for supper and business meeting in the dining room of the church Thursday evening. R. B. Smith retiring president, conducted the business and election of officers which resulted as follows: L. A. Galloway, president; Harvey Allen, vice president; Mrs. William Breckenridge, secretary and treasurer; the Rev.
J. A. Simpson, D. D., teacher.

After all had enjoyed the supper,
a few minutes were taken up with Irish jokes and story telling and Mr. Andrews talked on the proposed city charter.

A short program followed consisting of vocal solo by Mrs. Cope,
"Sing Me to Sleep," accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Breckenridge. Mrs.
Cope responded to an encore with an Irish reading. Mr. Galloway sang "Open the Gates of the Temple," followed by an Irish melody,
"A Little Bit of Heaven." The rest of the evening was spent in a social way.

Wedding Anniversary Happily Celebrated By Minnesotans

Just thirty-five years ago on March 15, 1888, back in Minnesota, occurred the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Leonard, of 2215 North Broadway, and yesterday over fifty old friends of Minnesota days and newer ones of California took occasion to call and extend congratulations on the happy anniversary.

Knowing the love for flowers which Mr. and Mrs. Leonard share, the guests made the event a flower show and the lovely blossoms of a Southland spring together with many handsome potted plants quite filled the pretty home.

Mrs. Joseph Marshall, niece of the honorees, was instrumental in arranging the party and late in the afternoon when dainty refreshments were served, was aided by Miss Lillie Osborn, Miss Emma Siebert and Mrs. Ernest Minter.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard resided in Spring Valley, Minnesota, until eight years ago, when they came to Santa Ana to establish their home.
Here they are among many former Minnesota friends and some eight or ten life-long associates were among those extending congratulations yesterday.

Y. W. C. A.

Nothing in the history of the Junior College Y. W. C. A. has created the interest and brought out the comment caused by the big Asilomar banquet held last night in the high school cafeteria.

Seventy members of the association sat down to a real dinner,
prepared by two of the best friends
the girls have, Mrs. F. D. Plavan and Mrs. Mary Crisman. The dinner was served by the Junior College Y. M. C. A. boys.

Blue lupin and wild hyacinths,
just the Y. W. C. A. shade of blue, used on the tables, little blue triangles on the white paper napkins and blue and white ice cream carried out the colors of the association. The attractive table arrangements were planned by Miss Wilma Plavan and her assistants, the Misses Frances Battey, Dorothy Dresser and Leona Rabe.

Miss Dasef, secretary of the Y.
W. C. A. at the Southern Branch in Los Angeles made a stirring talk on the "Spirit of Conferences." Mrs.
Northcross read her magnificent poem on the "Spirit of Our Memorial" after Miss Jennie Lasby told the members about the giving of the D. A. R. flag to the hut.

Miss Annie Anderson talked on "My Impressions of Asilomar" and Miss Ruth Klahn, who was also at last year's conference told about Asilomar.

A most delightful presiding officer was Miss Edith Plavan, president of the local association who called upon Miss Isabel Anderson, directing secretary of the Association to tell of the plans for the remainder of the year and upon Miss Velda Barnes and Miss Leah Crane to tell about the Pomona Midwinter conference.

Mrs. J. A. Cranston, Mrs. D. K.
Hammond and Mrs. E. M. Neally were guests of the girls.

Famous Folk Honor Afternoon Affair of Baptist Church Women

Seldom is it given to any one community to see an aggregation of famous folk such as was introduced yesterday afternoon at a St.
Patrick's tea held at the J. S. Runyan home on South Birch street, where women of the Baptist church entertained their friends.

Mrs. H. H. Reeves through a personal friendship with such celebrities as Madame Ernestine Schuman-Heink, Amelita Galli-Curi, Olga Steeh and others equally famous, had arranged a program featuring the artists.

Not only that, but the guests were informed that theirs was the honor of being received at the White House and by the First Lady of the Land, Mrs. Warren Gamaliel Harding. Mrs. Runyan gave her acknowledgment of the introduction after which Galli-Curi who bore a remarkable resemblance to Mrs. Herbert M.
Sammis, gave a group of three beautiful songs with Olga Steeh (whom misguided persons addressed as Mrs. Otto Russell) at the piano.

Miss Steeh later gave several piano selections, Schuman-Heink who appeared to those present, to be Miss Mame Havens, and Galli-Curi sang duets, Maude Adams, descended to newspaper work and connected with the Register, gave readings as did Phoebe May Roberts who masquerades as Miss M.
Birdenla Henry of the high school faculty and who gave a clever musical reading with Carrie Jacobs Bond at the piano instead of Miss Carrie Seaton.

Ireland's aristocracy aided in hostess duties and when the guests were asked to the dining room for a cup of tea, served the refreshments daintily. Mrs. Runyan and Mrs. Russell poured tea at a table laid in green and white. Silver and white stocks were used to center the arrangement while green candles winked at each corner of the table and were surrounded by shamrocks and tiny green hats filled with candles.

With the tea and mints was served delicious home-made cake and the very of Irish colleens serving in kitted Kitty Murphy (Mrs. F. E.
Moore), Rose Flaherty (Mrs. Bert
Conley), Estey Malone (Mrs. J. J.
Harrison), Molly O'Reilly (Mrs.
Fohrbacher), Kitti O'Brien (Mrs.
Mac Robbins), Maggie Callahan
(Mrs. W. H. Harrison), Bridget
O'Rourke (Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks), Jane Flaherty (Mrs. Purinton) and Peggy O'Neill (Mrs. Reeves).

Missionary Society

The all-day meeting of the Missionary society of Spurgeon memorial Methodist church South was held Wednesday in the church parlors with a good attendance despite the wind.

Morning hours were given to Bible and mission studies, conducted by Mesdames H. Donan and Lillie Hamilton. Dinner was served at noon and a social hour followed.

At 2 o'clock a business meeting was presided over by Mrs. T. W.
Oglesby. Officers gave reports of work done in each department.
Mrs. C. S. Perry led devotionals after which Mrs. W. A. O'Bar had charge of the literary meeting, taking for her subject, "Evangelizing
New Orleans." Mrs. Holland, Mrs.
Walter Fine and Miss Lydia Humstra, assisted her, each having interesting topics from which much information was derived.

Mrs. A. A. Jones gave a talk on the need of the Bible in the public schools, making mention of Assembly bill No. 148, introduced by Mr. Williams which was adopted by the society. The meeting was profitable and helpful to all present and closed with prayer.

Kansas City Guest Is Honored By Sisterly Trio

Honoring their sister, Mrs. E. H.
Rugan of Kansas City, a trio of Santa Ana matrons, Mrs. M.
Greene, Mrs. O. B. Ripley, and Mrs.
Roy Walton entertained informally
on a recent afternoon when a congenial little group of their friends called at the Greene home, 2211 South Main street to greet the visitor.

Music and games offered diversion and at the close of the afternoon a dainty three course tea menu was served the guests who included Mesdames J. L. Hunton, J. Woodroof, Nixon Jay, J. A. Hosea, of Anaheim, Margaret Hosea of Orange, B. J. Miller, Alex Jamison and Medley Cot of this city.

Mrs. Rugan has offered incentive for many pleasant affairs since her arrival as a Southern California visitor. One of the pleasantest of these was the dinner with which
Mr. and Mrs. James Woodroof entertained recently at their Anaheim home. Friends and relatives were gathered from this city as well as from Anaheim and a happy event was the result.

Bible Class Program

The Women's Bible class of the Christian church has a great program planned for Sunday, March 18 at 9:30 a. m. when Mrs. Hazel Hummel will sing the sacred words to the Rosary by Cadman and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott will give one of her favorite readings.

Mrs. D. R. Crow, president of the class says the enrollment is almost 200. A special effort is being made to have the entire enrollment present for this program.
All members are invited to bring their friends, and strangers are always welcome.

CHURCH SITE BOUGHT
MINNEAPOLIS, March 16.—Almost half of the block bounded by Grant street and Stevens and Second avenues, has been bought for $200,000 by the Second Church of Christ, Scientist, as the first move toward the erection of an edifice planned to be one of the finest in the country. The church intends to spend several hundred thousand dollars more in building.

tained at dinner by the Brea post. "The dinner will be given at Drake's hall at 7 p. m.," said Adjutant Clyde Whitney, of the local post, "and it is desired that a full representation be present. Stunts will be put on by the various posts of the county."

FINED $500 AS HE IS FREED IN RUM CASE

The excellent record of the defendant caused Superior Judge R. Y. Williams to break an established precedent and grant probation to William Carson, who had pleaded guilty to charges of operating an automobile while under influence of intoxicating liquor.

According to the requirements, Carson will pay a fine of $500. Payments of $20 must be made on the first of each month, during a period of more than two years. During that time Carson will be on probation.

As an alternative, Carson would serve 250 days in the county jail.

TO BE RE-ARRESTED WHEN TERM EXPIRES

Walter Scott, alias Charles J. Walters, alias C. J. Rice, had many names but only one set of finger prints.

So today, as he was serving a 6-day sentence in the county jail for alleged vagrancy, he was facing re-arrest at its completion. He escaped from a chain gang at San Bernardino several months ago, according to Herman Zabel, county bureau of identification head.

Comparison of the man's finger prints with those on circulars received from San Bernardino authorities disclosed the asserted likeness.

The man was arrested under the name of Walters, by City Marshal Jack Tinsley, Huntington Beach, and began his 60-day sentence March 9.

JEALOUS MAN BITES YOUNG WIFE'S NOSE

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, (Mo.) March 16.—Because his pretty young wife Helen would not live with him, Russell Howard a Kansas City radio salesman, bit her nose off, at the home of her father here. Howard, 36 years of age, married Helen Runnalls, pretty 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Runnalls of this city last May. Mrs. Howard said her husband was insanely jealous and had at times in Kansas City beaten her and locked her up in their rooms when he went to his work. Howard acknowledged the accusation of his wife and came here to beg her to come back to him. He said he knew nothing of what occurred after his wife refused to live with him. Howard was taken to the Kansas City Jail this evening as feeling is running high against him.

SANTA ANA, CALIF., FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1923

129 IS COUNTY DEATH RECORD REPORTED TO CORONER

Automobile Accidents Add 23 Cases to Total for Past Year Period

SUICIDE TOLL IS TEN

One Man Goes to Gallows; Eight Killed While At Work On Oil Rigs

The automobile in Orange county proved a powerful weapon in the hands of the Grim Reaper during the past twelve months, the survey of Coroner C. D. Brown's records today showed.

Of the 129 deaths, which necessitated the attendance of the coroner since March 17, 1922, 23 were caused directly by automobiles, it was learned.

At least 55 of the deaths which Brown investigated were found to be from natural causes. The suddenness, or the strange circumstances surrounding the passing of these persons, made his investigations necessary.

By far a greater number of men went to the great beyond suddenly. Whereas the records showed that inquests or investigations had been conducted in the deaths of 104 males, the names of only 25 women were included in the list.

Perhaps the strangest cause of death was given as a "kick from a house."

Ten deaths were self-inflicted; five were listed as murder, and one was described as justifiable homicide.

The hazardousness of oil drilling was illustrated in the fact that eight men went to death while at work around rigs in the Orange county oil fields.

One man went to the gallows, as the result of, two deaths listed. One is in San Quentin as a result of another murder.

Only one of the persons killed in traffic accidents was a pedestrian. Three were killed when automobiles and trains collided.

Liquor claimed one victim during the year. The man was a prisoner at the county jail when he died. The cause of death was given as acute alcoholism.

Two were killed while they were riding in wagons or horse drawn vehicles.

Gas asphyxiation brought death to three, while eight were victims of drowning. Four were electrocuted.

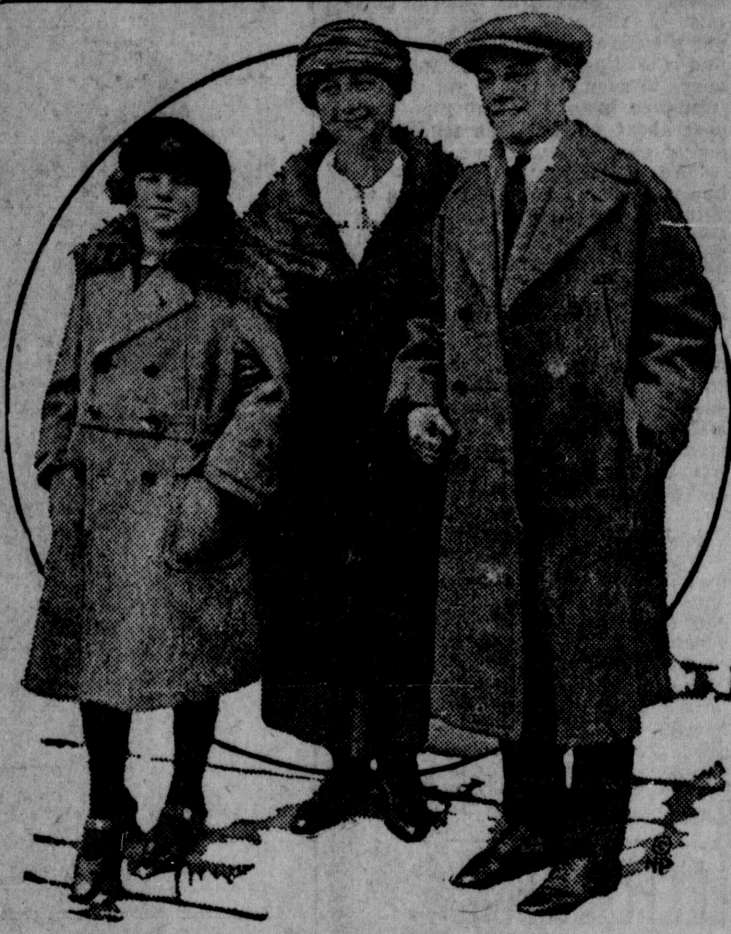

The pursuit of ordinary labor, such as carpentry, proved hazardous for five, who died in the discharge of their duties.

Four were killed by steam trains or trolley cars, while one person, a small child, strangled when her dress caught on the handle of an automobile door.

Amazing Discovery Restores Color to Gray Hair

This preparation is known as Co-Lo Hair Restorer, and is just a clear, colorless, odorless, greaseless liquid. It is pleasing and simple to apply, will not wash or rub off, and cannot be detected. Thousands of men and women have used Co-Lo with perfect results. Co-Lo can be had for every natural shade of hair, A6 for black and all dark shades of brown; A7 for jet black hair; A8 for all medium brown shades, and A9 for blonde, drab and ashy shades. It is obtainable at drug stores everywhere.

CONGRESSWOMAN IN DEFENSE PLEA FOR AMERICAN FLAPPER

Mrs. Huck and Two of Her Children.

BY MRS. WINNIFRED HUCK
(Congresswoman-at-Large From Illinois)

There's nothing wrong with the flapper. Don't alarm yourself over her.

In spirit she's as old as the hills. In personification she's but the twentieth century mode of expression—probably influenced a bit by our present manner of living—on the shortcut road to those coveted twin possessions held dearest in the heart of every woman.

These two jewels are, first, the longing for attraction, and second, the ever-burning desire to be the center of attraction.

As a mother myself, I cannot share with alarmists their views on the passing throngs of young girls who daily flaunt their pretty bobbed heads and jangle their amusingly long ear-pendants in parade on our "Main Streets."

Moralists may sigh and heave heavy conjectures as to where the marching throng is going. They may regard with grave apprehension the possible aftermath of a "neurotic age." But to me, the flapper symbolizes nothing if it is not sheer honesty, frankness, and a glorifying emancipation from Victorian fetters, which made for feminine pettiness and narrowness of vision.

I love the flapper. She heralds the dawn of a womanhood which will accept equal responsibilities. The flapper and her purposes are good. She will grow up and enter into motherhood the better for her experiences.

What if her skirts are a trifle short, her manner innocently impudent?

Flapper Not New.

Such extensors label the flapper not as a new creature by any means but rather as a self-perfected model of something we have had in our midst for a long time.

The flapper includes too many of us to be bad.

And whatever her aim, her purpose, her desire, I know it is based on goodness, candor and truth.

No structure built on such foundations can topple. Nor can it be so corrupt as a good many moralists are charging.

Flapperism in its essence means freedom. Freedom as opposed to license can be sustained only when guided by education, intelligence and confidence. Therein lies the parent's obligation.

STATE MUSICAL BANK BUILDING MEET BENEFIT PLANS LAID STEEL FRAME IS ORDERED

Capacity 'House' Expected to Greet Performers at H. S. Monday Night

With indications that a capacity "house" will greet the performers, arrangements today were virtually completed for the benefit performance to be given at the high school here Monday night, to raise funds to defray the expenses of the convention of the California Federation of Music Clubs, which will be held here early in April.

"A glance at the program to be given Monday night will convince music lovers that we are offering some exceptional numbers," said Clarence A. Gustlin, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

"Funds are necessary to the proper entertainment of the big convention which comes to us next month."

Many to Co-Operate.

"It was felt that the committee should avoid soliciting individuals for contributions. We felt that it would be far more satisfactory to all concerned if we gave a splendid benefit performance."

"With this thought in mind, we invited twelve county musical organizations and many individual musicians to join us in making the benefit a pronounced success."

The response has more than justified our expectations. There will be numbers by the Fullerton Symphony orchestra, the Orange County Choral union, Santa Ana high school orchestra and glee club, costume features by school children and many other high class organizations."

The coming benefit, according to musical experts, will be a revelation to those who have not had the opportunity of hearing some of the performers.

Noted Singer on Bill.

Among those who will appear on Monday night's program is Madame Manuela Budrow, famous Spanish concert singer who delighted a big audience at the Community hospital commencement given at the First Presbyterian church here recently.

Madame Budrow and C. A. Gustlin will represent the Santa Ana Musical association on the program.

Mrs. H. M. Sammis, soloist of the Santa Ana Ebell club, will represent the music section of the Santa Ana Ebell club.

"The ticket sale has been unusually good," said Gustlin, "and many patrons have bought blocks of tickets to be presented to school children. Every indication points to a packed house, hence it is desirable that those who plan to attend the performance get their tickets at this time."

Veteran L. A. Iron Works Man Recalls Early-day Construction Here

With reminiscent smile and his mind going back to early-day contracts in Santa Ana, Milo A. Baker, vice-president and general manager of the Baker Iron Works, Los Angeles, last night at St. Ann's Inn here discussed details of the contract the Baker Iron Works has taken to furnish steel for the First National bank's proposed new six-story building at the southwest corner of Fourth and Main streets.

Baker pointed out that he furnished the cast iron for the First National building at the northwest corner of Fourth and Main streets when it was built in 1887. He was paid $600 for that job. His firm will furnish the steel for the new bank building for $75,000.

Baker and Harry S. Hitchcock, vice-president and treasurer of the Baker Iron Works, last night assured A. J. Crookshank, president of the First National, W. B. Williams, cashier of the First National, and W. A. Huff, president of the Farmers and Merchants' Savings bank, which is owned by the First National, that they would use every effort to attain speed in the completion of their portion of the big structure.

Cites Building Boom.

They pointed out, however, that by reason of the great boom in building construction in the East, steel deliveries are slow, a fact that it would likely be three months before the steel is received from the East by way of Panama, and the trusses made in Los Angeles ready for delivery on the job here.

"From the time the first steel is landed on the job in Santa Ana to the time the steel frame is finished, not more than two months will elapse," said the steel men.

Incidentally, Baker declared that when the building is completed the First National will have the distinction of being in a banking room that will have the largest trusses to be found in building in any banking room on the Pacific coast housed in a building with offices above.

"The trusses for this room," said A. J. Crookshank, "will have a span of sixty feet. There are five of those trusses, each weighing thirty tons. It will take 500 tons of steel to make the frame for our building."

Will Be Second To None.

Baker declared that there will be no better building for its size anywhere in California than Santa Ana will have when the First National building is up.

Gathered at St. Ann's Inn last night as the guests of H. S. Hitchcock at dinner were M. A. Baker, Lawrence Baker, who is a son of Fred L. Baker, president of the Baker Iron Works, and S. P. Trood, of the Baker organization.

A. J. Crookshank, W. A. Huff, G. E. Edgar, W. B. Williams and T. E. Stephenson, of Santa Ana.

"I'll never forget my first trip to Santa Ana," said Baker. "It was about 1880. I rode a high wheeled bicycle from Los Angeles to visit at the Duell home here. Think of it—thirty-five miles on a high-wheeled bicycle!"

BEAUTIFUL COLLEGE GIRL REJECTS 200 SUITORS FOR HAND

MISS MILDRED CHURCHILL.

POLY PAPER TO HAVE CURRENT EVENT NEWS

With next Tuesday's edition, the Santa Ana high school weekly publication, The Generator, will launch an innovation in its makeup, it was learned today.

A column devoted to the current political events of the week will be conducted by one of the high school girls, Ruth Gredis, who will review, each week, the leading European affairs, national affairs and political events of importance in the state and city.

Next Tuesday's column is to contain a review of the Ruhr valley question, a discussion of the Governor's budget recommendation with regard to educational matters and an explanation of California reapportionment.

In the near future Miss Gredis will conduct a column on the proposed city charter.

This column has for its purpose the informing of those students who are seeking an explanation of affairs.

The co-operation of Miss Jessie Paxton, faculty advisor, and of Miss Maxine Wilson, editor of The Generator, has been responsible for the steady improvement of the character of the school paper, many have declared.

WOMEN'S BUSINESS CLUB TO ORGANIZE HERE NEXT MONDAY

Plans are going forward for the organization dinner of the Business and Professional Women's club, to be held at St. Ann's Inn Monday night at 7 p. m., it was learned today.

More than 100 of the city's leading business and professional women have already responded to the call to attend the dinner, it was reported. Those who cannot include all of those who will desire to belong, it was said. Thus, it was indicated that after the organization meeting a great many names will be proposed for membership.

ICE GORGE BREAKS.

SIOUX CITY, March 16.—A seven-foot wall of water came down the Missouri river early yesterday, but no damage was done, though there is still the possibility of gorges that would endanger property on the lowlands. The ice did not break here until the arrival of the flood.

VAUDEVILLE GIVEN BY CLUB TUESDAY

PLACENTIA, March 16.—The vaudeville and minstrel show put on by the Round Table club Tuesday evening was enjoyed by a full house, many people being turned away because of the lack of even standing room.

Miss Thelma Green and Leland Green gave several selections on the piano and saxophone, assisted by Ed. Records, on the violin.

A scene on an old plantation in Tennessee was given by the club members and their husbands. Their appearance as they came on the stage brought forth peals of laughter which repeatedly interrupted their performance as they sang and danced, the little black pianists gaining their share of attention with their watermelons.

Miss Katherine Bryan gave a group of readings and fancy dance, and Mrs. Dutton in costume, accompanied by Mrs. Dunsmoor, a number of selected Indian songs.

"Young Lochinvar," a skit given before the club Colonial day, was repeated, and from the amount of applause it gained was much enjoyed by the audience. All of the characters were particularly good, because of their being acted by some of the more sedate members.

A modern barber shop scene was depicted and the audience got many laughs from the conversation carried on while the modern man was manicured and beautified and his boots blacked, most of the jokes being on persons in the audience.

Eileen Edwardson, six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Edwardson, danced the "Society Shuffle" and "Glow Worm" in costume.

Ten school girls in youthful dresses introduced a "Mrs. M. S. S. Class" gave a dialogue.

LAY PLANS FOR EASTER RITES TO BE HELD AT MARCY HEIGHTS

Throng of Worshipers to Greet Sunrise With Song and Prayer

PROGRAM UNDER WAY

Rev. Roberts, First Presbyterian Pastor, to Deliver Sermon

From a modest beginning, seven or eight years ago, the hailing of Easter morning from the heights of Orange county has grown into a custom that will be strikingly observed on Marcy Heights again this year, according to the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church here and chairman of the committee on arrangements for the sunrise service.

The Rev. W. E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the Easter sermon from the mount, it was announced today.

"From its inception," said the Rev. Mr. Porter, "Orange county residents have shown a keen and growing interest in the Easter sunrise service. It is a very beautiful service and well deserving the support it has received."

"In former years, we have had some enormous crowds for the service, and advance indications are that this year will eclipse all previous records. Last Easter about 1000 persons attended."

Ministers Shape Program.

"Arrangements now being made under the supervision of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, will include a fine musical program with other appropriate features. Tentative plans call for the services of a quartette, violinists, cornet soloists and other artists."

"As usual, the big crowd of worshippers will be asked to join in a mighty chorus, when favorite hymns will be sung. Last year, under the leadership of Miss Lena Shepard, the songs included the 'Doxology,' 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' and 'All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name.'"

"It is planned to have the service start promptly at sunrise, which, I think, will be about 5:45 a. m. There will be ample parking spaces and the roads will be so patrolled that there will be no danger of a traffic tie-up."

"A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend the sunrise service."

Inspiration For All.

"Inspiration awaits everybody who journeys to Marcy Heights Sunday, April 1."

In connection with the Easter services, Herbert Rankin, prominent merchant and church worker, today described the origin of the beautiful custom.

"The idea originated with a little group of young people of the First Presbyterian church here," said Rankin. "At first, we held our sunrise service in Birch Park."

"Then, the suggestion having met with instant and gratifying support, it was decided to hold the service on the heights. For two or three years service was held on Red Hill. At that time it was sponsored by the Christian Endeavor societies."

"Later, however, it was felt that the project had assumed such proportions that it should be handled by the Ministerial association. In

THE HONOR OF M. LUTARD

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc.

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead the officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. In the Leeds bank robbery, Michael (known to Greys as "Stanfield") barely escapes and has to flee the country. Sayers is approached by another well-known criminal named Paul Gont, who offers to take him as a partner in a plot to ruin a noted politician. While awaiting an interview with Gont at the Tavernier, Michael is astounded to see his wife riding past in a carriage with Sir Norman Greys. When Gont arrives he tells Sayers that Janet has been sent for to assist in the plot under consideration.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Sayers is Speaking.

"For the moment I am puzzled," was the frank confession. "I can tell you this, however. Your wife was sent for according to my instructions. I know very little about her, it is true, but I have agents in London who keep me well informed as to what goes on on your side of the Channel; and from certain things I have heard, I came to the conclusion that she was the one person who could bring to a successful issue the little affair which I shall presently propose to you."

"You seem to be taking things rather for granted," I reminded him.

"Your co-operation is a certainty," he replied with a smile. "There will be half a million francs for you, and you must be getting short of money. Furthermore, by a very pleasing coincidence, the brains of the other side are controlled by your ancient enemy."

"The scheme is already commended to me," I admitted. "Nevertheless, expound it."

"I will tell you a curious story," he proposed.

Greys Tells His Side

I celebrated my return to England by a stroll down Bond Street on the morning after my arrival. After two years' absence, it was like a new city to me. I met a few acquaintances and exchanged greetings with a couple of friends. Then, at the corner of Conduit Street, I came face to face with Janet Stanfield.

"Welcome home, Sir Norman Greys!" she said.

"Big game shooting, the papers said," she continued. "Tell me, my enemy, was it as interesting as man-hunting?"

"Each has its thrill," I replied, "but you must remember that I long ago ceased to be a professional hunter of men."

"So that is why you have let my husband alone?"

"It was not my affair to search for him. That was a matter for the authorities. If my help is sought in solving the mystery of a crime, I am generally prepared to do my best. Otherwise, I do not interfere. You have news of him?"

"She laughed bitterly.

"Since he left the Lodge that night," she replied, "and you kicked your heels over at the Dornay House because of your parole, I have never seen nor heard of him."

I suddenly realized with a little shock that she was plainly, almost shabbily dressed. She read my thoughts in most disturbing fashion.

"A terrible neighborhood, this, to frequent in one's last year's garments," she observed, smiling. "I was just thinking that I should like a black-and-white-check tailored suit. Would you buy me one, Sir Norman? You really ought to, you know. We made terribly little out of that bank affair, owing to your flash of inspiration."

"I admit the liability," I replied. "Which establishment shall we patronize?"

"At heart I believe that I am an honest woman," she sighed. "I cannot bear the thought of your paying out notes for the adornment of my person. You shall give me lunch instead. I am certainly very hungry."

We turned toward Regent Street and lunched in a restaurant of bygone fame, half bourgeois, half Bohemian. She would tell me nothing of her manner of life or of her abode; yet somehow or other I fancied, reading between the lines, that life had become something of a struggle for her. She asked me deliberately for my address, but refused me hers. She angled for another invitation, but shook her head when I proffered it.

"These meetings with you," she declared, "stimulate me more than I can tell you, but they leave behind something which I cannot define. I do not think that I will dine with you, Sir Norman—not just yet, at any rate."

She glanced at her watch and hurried off. I had an idea that she was returning to some daily task. I called at my club, talked for an hour or two with some friends, and in due course made my way back to my rooms. I was restless and ridiculously disturbed. Fortunately, distraction awaited me.

"Mr. Rimmington has been waiting for your some time, sir," my servant announced. "He is in the sitting-room with another gentleman."

"My friend rose eagerly to welcome me as I entered. I shook hands with his companion, who was known to me slightly.

"The Chief asked me to bring Lord Hampden to you," Rimmington explained. "He came this morning to ask for your help in an affair which is rather outside our province. The Chief thought that you might be of assistance."

"Let me hear about it," I begged.

"French politics today," Lord Hampden explained, "hinge upon the question of France's attitude toward Germany. There is a party—the patriotic and military party—determined to make Ger-

Quick Action Is Characteristic Of Register "Class" Ads

"Everybody, happy? Well I should say!"

What a Kiwanis song, but everybody who advertises or answers advertisements in The Register sings it with equal gusto.

For instance, in yesterday's Register H. M. Bristow, 817 N. Broadway, advertised some used bathroom fixtures for sale—he was remodeling some bathrooms. The ad was ordered run for three days. This morning Mr. Bristow came in to stop the ad.

"We sold out," said Mr. Bristow, "before my paper was delivered—probably within an hour after The Register went to press. Don't let the ad appear again; I don't want any more people to be disappointed and don't want to have all my time taken up by calls."

It is ever thus when you advertise in The Register anything for which there is any demand.

EUROPE IS NOT ABLE TO BUY MUCH GRAIN

LONDON, March 16.—Europe is not going to be able to buy the excess grain crops of the United States this year, according to a consensus of old world economists and agricultural experts, compiled by the United Press.

America might as well prepare to dispose of any cereal excess she may have through the mouths of the world's starving paupers, a leading British broker declared, voicing the opinion of the majority.

Russia is planning to use a lot of American wheat in 1923, but not to pay for it, the representative of the All Russian Consumers' Union said.

"We will use your cereals to check several localized famines, which undoubtedly will recur this year," he said. "But we're not prepared to purchase them. Next year we hope to be free from dependence upon American cereals and to do considerable exporting of wheat ourselves."

"The United States has most of the world's gold and is about to get the remainder," R. G. Glenday, economic expert of the Federation of British Industry, said.

"For this reason, extensive purchases of any American commodities by England or by Europe is decidedly not feasible."

"Europe's ability to absorb American produce of any kind hinges upon the condition of Germany—which remains the hub of the situation and barometer of Europe, despite crippling French action in the Ruhr."

"At the present moment, America's lap is overfilled with too much gold. Now the farmers are facing inundation of bumper crops. A plain situation of purchasing power and produce lying in the same place, creating a most difficult situation."

England probably will look to Canada for its wheat, an official of the department of Agriculture stated.

"We cannot say yet where England will purchase her cereal requirements for 1923," he said, "as the markets will determine that. In view of the expected increase of 30 per cent in the Canadian

SALESMAN JAILED ON CHECK CHARGES

The story of the rabbit that spat in the bulldog's face had its parallel here today, as H. A. Carmody, former typewriter salesman, was lodged in the county jail on bad check charges preferred against him by a Santa Ana merchant.

Carmody came to Santa Ana about two months ago, and became associated with a typewriter company. Several weeks later, the warrant for Carmody's arrest was issued.

Last night Carmody was arrested by Long Beach officials. Directly across the aisle from an exhibit conducted by the identification bureau there at an industrial exposition, Carmody was said to have set up a booth in which he was purporting to sell typewriters. Fred Coats, head of the Long Beach bureau, in charge of the booth, recognized Carmody from descriptions contained in a circular sent out by Herman Zabel, Orange county identification bureau superintendent, and arrested him.

Constables Jesse Elliott and Joseph Ryan brought the defendant back to the jail here.

NEGRO TRAIN THIEF IS SLAIN BY GUARD

OMAHA, Neb., March 16.—A negro bandit, believed to be George Kennedy, Pocahontas, Idaho, was shot and killed when he attempted to escape after robbing a storage mail car on Union Pacific train number six at Summit, Nebraska near here last night.

Kennedy was carrying $200 worth of silks and other valuables when shot to death by mail clerk J. C. Kull. Kennedy is believed to have boarded the train at North Platte, 300 miles west. The train crew saw Kennedy leap to the ground as the train stopped at Summit. The shooting followed.

Wheat Crop, It is Quite Likely That 1923 will witness a repetition of the three previous years, in which Canada's wheat export to England increased from ten to twenty-three million hundred weights.

The world wheat reports, including Europe, show bumper yields, with the exception of Australia where there was a small decrease.

What do you know about COFFEE?

DO YOU KNOW that Coffee is not always what it appears to be—that it is not necessarily fresh because packed in tin containers, or of an inferior grade when packed in paper bags. Orange Blossom brand is the highest grade coffee, packed in glass-lined paper bags, solely to save the consumer the cost of the tin container. It is roasted and ground fresh every day, and only enough is supplied dealer to meet immediate needs—insuring full strength and flavor when the product reaches the consumer. One trial will convince you that there is no better coffee at any price. "It's Always Fresh"

DEMPSEY VERIFIES FIRPO BOUT REPORT

World's Champion Expects To Fight In America
This Summer

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Jack Dempsey, verified the report from New York today that his manager, Jack Kearns, had practically accepted an offer to meet Luis Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, late in November at Buenos Aires.

Dempsey did not confirm the rumor, however, that his end of the purse would be $750,000, as at first reported, but intimated the figure offered was in the neighborhood of this sum.

Tex Rickard, fight promoter, who says he has Firpo bound with a contract extending over a year's time, will probably promote the fight in the opinion of Dempsey.

"It takes a Rickard to handle a battle of this magnitude," Dempsey said. "I understand Rickard, who was engaged in the cattle business in Argentina for two years, has quietly been looking over the ground and sizing up the prospects for the battle. There isn't any doubt but what the battle, if staged in Argentina, will pay handsomely."

"You can imagine," the champion continued, "how tickled the sport fans of that Latin country would be to see their favorite in action against the champion. They are red-hot sports down there from all reports and I expect to see the whole population of Argentina at the fight on the day of the fight."

Dempsey is busy doing his various gym exercises at the California athletic club and stated he may fight once before he takes on Firpo. He intimated he was keeping in trim in the hope of meeting the winner of the Jess Willard-Floyd Johnson fight which may take place in New York on May 19, or a month or so later.

Dempsey said he also still held hopes of meeting Tom Gibbons in Shelby, Mont., although this fight apparently to be honored for.

"Yes, if those folks in Montana can get enough money together, I'd like to meet Gibbons but it looks doubtful," Dempsey said. "The money is around the big cities like New York and I expect to battle him if any place before meeting him in Argentina."

Cole, Hill, Bigelow, Belcher and Spicer played for the winners with M. Kennedy, McDonald, Smith, H. Kennedy and E. Kennedy favoring for the Presbyterians.

The Black Wolves won their Senior League fracas from the T. N. T. quintet by scoring ten points in the last quarter. The final score was 17 to 8. The count was tied at the end of the third period. Vieira, Spicer, Young, Norman and Dillenbeck were with the Black Wolves. Coehems, L. Clark, M. Clark, Patrick and Brown played for the T. N. T. team.

SUMMER DELHI BOXING SEASON TO OPEN NEXT WEDNESDAY; GRIMM MEETS MASON

DELHI CARD

Main Event—Joe Grimm, Huntington Beach, vs. "Pinky" Mason, Seattle, 145 pounds. Semi-windup—Jack Dunn, Huntington Beach, vs. Young Terry, Fullerton, 142 pounds. Preliminaries—Young Vasquez, Santa Ana, vs. George Gilmore, Los Angeles, 145 pounds.

Battling Doty, Wintersburg, vs. Joe Kelly, Los Angeles, 138 pounds. Young Montoya, Placentia, vs. Young Galinda, Los Angeles, 115 pounds.

The 1923 boxing season at the Delhi arena will begin next Wednesday night, March 21, according to an announcement today by Boyd Ellis, promoter.

Joe Grimm, now of Huntington Beach, who battled Hank Gatten to a draw at Delhi several months ago in his first appearance in this section has drawn the main event assignment. He will go on with "Pinky" Mason, the sensational four-rounder from Seattle, who has just arrived from the Northern city after a whirlwind fighting campaign down the coast during which he defeated some of the best boys of his weight at Portland and around the San Francisco bay district.

Grimm made a remarkable showing against Gatten. He fought the Santa Ana boy on one day's notice, after Jack Martin had snubbed his date here. Although Grimm had been in training but a few days he gave Gatten plenty of opposition.

Dunn Meets Terry
Jack Dunn, who looked like the goods the one time that he strutted his stuff for the edification of the Delhi fish, will clash with Young Terry, the clever Fullerton boy, in the semi-windup melee.

Dunn has a powerful right hand and has had plenty of experience. Terry is a speedy, clever boxer and packs a pretty fair punch himself. He recently gave Battling Doty a walloping at Anaheim.

Young Johnny Vasquez, the tall local mitt man, has been matched with George Gilmore of Los Angeles in the feature preliminary. Gilmore will come here with the reputation of being a two-listed fighting machine. Vasquez has battled several times at Delhi and none of his opponents have been able to hurt him.

Bat Doty on Bill
Battling Doty, the hard-hitting Wintersburg boy, who was a sensation at the Delhi arena at the close of the last boxing season, will be on hand for neophytes night. He will maul with Joe Kelly, a brother of Tom Kelly, the middleweight. Doty and Joe Kelly put up a sensational bout for the local bugs a few months back.

Doty won and Kelly has been angling for a return engagement ever since.

Young Montoya, Placentia's leading citizen, and Young Galinda, Los Angeles boy, will clash in the second fracas of the bill.

Promoter Ellis will stage a good curtain raiser bout making a total of six for the evening.

Fight fans were interested in Ellis' announcement that the Delhi road from Main street to the arena has been graded and smoothed and is in first class condition.

SUZANNE SMOTHERS MOLLA MALLORY AT NICE IN LOVE SETS

NICE, France, March 16.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen demonstrated today her right to the crown as queen of tennis when she defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory, American champion, and her greatest rival, at 6-0 and 6-0 in the fourth round of the Nice championship tournament.

The defeat of the American star was a rout. Mrs. Mallory never had a chance, but she went down gamely. Suzanne had a great day. She was primed for the battle of her life and she played spectacularly and at times vindictively.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

Lesson for March 13. Luke 23:33-46. Jesus Crucified. "When they came unto the place that is called The Skull, there they crucified Him."—v. 33. Death by crucifixion was a form of capital punishment common among the Romans, particularly for slaves and also for those pronounced guilty of treason. When convicted of the crime charged, the sentence of death was speedily executed, and in a public place, for the purpose, as they probably believed, of warning and so restraining others who might be contemplating the committing of similar crimes. Thus two objects were attained—or attempted: the punishment of the guilty and in a manner suitable to his guilt, and also, by this kind of preventive measure, the safeguarding of slave owners and the nation.

This public exhibition, of a man put to death in one of the most inhuman and cruel ways that any demon could devise, it was thought would have a deterring and salutary effect. Then, as always, a slave had no rights that his master was bound to respect, and the man who opposed the "ruling class"—the nation—was guilty of treason and no better than a slave. Therefore, as a mere matter of self-interest and self-protection, crucify them by the side of the public highway!

It was done accordingly, but, nevertheless, Rome fell. Master and slave, patrician and plebeian, nobleman and common-man all went down together.

Vengeance Never Justifiable. We have not learned with definiteness how to deal with the criminal classes. But we have reached an almost unanimous conclusion that the legal public execution of one convicted of a crime is not best. And as to "mob law" in any form whatever there are but few indeed who even offer an apology for it, when either white man or black has "summary vengeance" meted out to him. Sometime maybe we shall be sufficiently Christianized to believe that the taking of human life as a penalty for crime is seldom or never justified. Now, as though it were a kind of apology for doing it at all, we execute criminals with as little publicity as possible. And as for crucifying any of them in "the place which is called The Skull," or anywhere else—that is unthinkable, as a mode of legal capital punishment. Maybe, after all from this viewpoint alone, Jesus did not die in vain.

They and Its Antecedents. "They crucified him."—v. 33. In this sentence, "they" is a pronoun the antecedents of which are many. A much larger number of persons than we at first think had a direct part in the crucifixion of Jesus. Roman soldiers very probably affixed him to the cross. They drove the nails through his hands and his feet. "One of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side." Evidently these soldiers were under the command of a centurion, whose orders they carried out. Pilate, yielding to the clamorous importunity that dinied in his ears, "to content the multitude, released unto them Barabbas, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified." Before this Pilate had sent Jesus to Herod, who happened to be in Jerusalem at the time, hoping in this way to get rid of the guilt of condemning an innocent man to death. "When Herod saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for he was of a long time desirous to see him, because he had heard concerning him; and he hoped to see some miracle done by him." But Herod, "that fox," who stands for the crafty and brutally curious, sent Jesus back to Pilate. The rabble, that cried before Pilate, "Crucify him, crucify him," were the mindless mouthpieces of Annas and Caiaphas the high priests "who stirred up the multitude."—Mark 15:11.

Associated with these two high priests in demanding the death of Jesus were "the chief priests, scribes, elders, and the whole council."—Matt. 26:57-69. But before this, "Caiaphas, being high priest that year, prophesied that Jesus should die."

Judas Iscariot "which betrayed him" played his treacherous part in making the crucifixion of Jesus a possibility. Pharisees, Sadducees and Herodians were instigators and abettors. Doubtless the indifference of many and the timidity of some were factors. Therefore as the result of a deep-laid plan, involving many, the death of Jesus, resulted. A great wrong had been committed under the guise of legal authority, the blame for which probably all, save Judas, refused to accept. It is always so, or else there is the vain regret that "it might have been prevented."

The time to forestall evil is in its incipency.

Retribution is God's Law. Whatever may have happened to those who participated in the death of Jesus, this we know: "In the depths of despair, Judas took his own life. The blood-thirsty multitude cried out at the foot of the judgment seat, 'His blood be upon us and our children.' Within thirty years Jerusalem was sacked, and the Romans scourged and crucified thousands over again in the Praetorium where Christ was crowned with thorns and mocked and reviled. Pilate was banished for his own country, and perished by his own hand an exile in Gaul. Herod died in exile, covered with infamy and disgrace. Caiaphas was deposed and branded with shame. Annas beheld the utter destruction of his own house, and his son dragged to death in the streets of his native city."

U. S. C., BEAR TRACK TEAMS AWAIT MEET

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—With the crack of the gun in the sprint races tomorrow at Bovard Field between U. S. C. and the University of California, Charles Paddock, world's short distance running wonder, will face Shepperd, Farnsworth and Craw, Bear sprinters, who are expected to give him keen competition for the honors.

The chances for a Trojan victory in the track meet are slim, however, in the opinion of experts, particularly so with the announcement that Cory, high jumper, and Emmons, pole vaulter, two top-notch men, will be ineligible to compete because of low study averages.

With Geertz, Whiteside, Saxby and Sutton entered in the quarter mile for the Bears, and with Geertz' time at 51 seconds flat, the Trojan entry in this event will be hard put to win.

In the eighty-eight, Pierce, Bauman and Juch, Bear men, have covered the distance in 2:12 in practice. Denton and Dorr have made the best time in the mile and two mile events in practice. Denton with 4:38 and Dorr with 9:40, which is the best time of the season.

Coach Dean Cromwell of the Trojans is not depressed, apparently, over his chances, claiming his squad will take the meet with a score something like 76 to 55 out of a possible 131.

It seems that the Cardinal and Gold team will be hard hit in the distances, the pole vault, high jump and javelin throw. Outside of these events the Trojan monitor, Cromwell, is looking forward, to taking eight first places, a few seconds and thirds to keep from being snowed under.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE AS MATE IS ALLEGED TO FAIL AS PROVIDER

William Baird's asserted failure to provide for his wife and small child resulted in a divorce decree, granted to Mrs. Baird by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams today.

Baird did not furnish money sufficient to support his family, the complaint had alleged. When the case came up for trial today, Baird did not appear, and a default was entered.

Training Camp Tabs

ORLANDO, Fla.—Pitcher Eppa Rixey, has signed to play with the Reds which leaves Rousch the only Red holdout.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—The Detroit Tigers' squad was complete today, Ira Flagstead and Rip Collins having reported.

SEGUIN, Texas.—Willie Kamm, suffering from a bruised leg will not play again until the White Sox meet the Giants in San Antonio Saturday.

BOYES SPRINGS, Calif.—The Seal regulars cut loose to show their batting strength in yesterday's game with the Yankigans and won it 14 to 0. Valla knocked down homers while Kilduff, Rhyme, Altan and Kelly each got one.

MYRTLEDALE SPRINGS, Calif.—Walter Mails, of the Oaks, pitching staff, is suffering from a cold and was confined to his room yesterday while Del Baker was nursing a lame shoulder. The Oaks took it easy most of the day.

HANFORD, Calif.—The Portland Beavers claim they have found a new pitching sensation in the person of Ted Pilette, brother of Herman Pilette of Detroit. He is doing his first pitching in the Coast League. Charley Bench, from Los Angeles, is also being hailed as above the average among the Beaver recruits.

AVALON, Calif.—The Cubs ventured into Los Angeles again today to meet the Angels in a three game training series.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—The entire Pirate squad is now in camp here following arrival of Catcher Walter Schmidt.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—With Commissioner Landis and many other celebrities on the sidelines, the Brooklyn Robins opened the exhibition season by beating the Boston Braves 12 to 7.

TAMPA, Fla.—"Chick" Gagnon, former Holy Cross star, who was obtained by the Senators from Detroit, has temporarily replaced Peck on the regulars in the inter-club games.

1749 WOLVES KILLED MINNEAPOLIS, March 16.—Seventeen hundred and forty-nine wolves were killed in Minnesota since Dec. 16, 1922, for which bounties aggregating $11,856 were paid, Ray P. Chase, state auditor, announced. Kittson county took the largest portion of the bounties by ridding its territory of 131 grown wolves and cubs, for which $1135 was paid.

AGED EDUCATOR DIES DENVER, March 16.—Mrs. Julia Mitchell Rae, widely known Denver school teacher, is dead after a short illness from pneumonia. She was 72 years of age, taught in the Denver public schools continuously from 1884 to September, 1915, when she retired.

BASEBALL HOLDOUT SQUAD IS REDUCED

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, March 16.—With a few notable exceptions, all of baseball's dissatisfied are back in the fold and the holdout army is reduced almost to a squad.

Jack Bentley, the $65,000 Baltimore player, is the most conspicuous of the holdouts and it begins to look as if the star pitcher meant it when he said he would never play unless the Baltimore club paid him part of the pile the Giants turned over for him.

Although McGraw has been quoted as saying that he believed Bentley should be given a part of his purchase price, the Giant leader is looking among the other youngsters in the camp for a southpaw to help out Art Nehf.

Zach Wheat, the trusty old Brooklyn outfielder, is making good his threat to stay away from the Robins until Charley Ebbets gives him a better contract. Ebbets has used the old "I'll trade you" threat and he has also fallen back without effect on the other bromide—"Play for me or starve."

Brooklyn also has Andy High, a promising young outfielder, to get back in the fold.

For Gleason has Eddie Collins listed as a holdout, but the greatest of all the second basemen denies that he is a member of the group and insists that he has merely been delayed in reporting.

The White Sox blamed the Yankees for getting Collins dissatisfied by starting a lot of trade talk and then failing to go through with it. The Sox officials claim that the American league champions never made a serious attempt to get Eddie away from his Chicago job.

CHECK PROTECTION WILL BE FEATURED AT INDUSTRIAL SHOW

LONG BEACH, March 16.—A police educational booth which features check protection work is maintained at the Industrial exposition at the Auditorium.

In a booth donated by the merchants' association a display showing the correct and incorrect manner of writing checks and the methods used by forgers are exhibited.

Captain of Detectives Jack B. Worley arranged the display for the files of the check protection of the local department.

Other police work is shown in the booth also.

LAUNCH FINANCE DRIVES FOR THREE SOUTHERN TOWNS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The California Development association this week launched three membership and financial campaigns for as many Chambers of Commerce. One will be in Santa Cruz, another in Tracy and the third in Blythe, Riverside county.

The latter campaign is the first Chamber of Commerce in Southern California to call upon the organization service department of the California Development association for this form of help. Officers of the Development association point out that this is another expression of the increased unity and cooperation that this state-wide organization is bringing about between the various sections and districts.

J. M. Silvey will conduct the Santa Cruz campaign, Charles C. Mack will be in charge at Tracy and F. H. Deuprey will manage the campaign in Southern California. The Development association has just brought to a successful conclusion a similar campaign in Madera.

CALL U. C. ALUMNI MEET HERE MAR. 23

More than 100 alumni of the University of California now living in Orange county are expected to meet Friday, March 23, at 8 p. m., when a big Charter Day rally is to be held here.

A radio is being installed at the meeting place, which will be the John N. Anderson home at 501 Wellington avenue, and the alumni are to hear speeches delivered in Los Angeles and San Francisco, at similar Charter Day rallies, by leading California men.

The meeting is expected to be one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever held because the Orange county alumni will be enabled to combine an evening of good fellowship among themselves with all of the benefits of a big city meeting, since they can listen in on both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Mrs. W. J. Travers of Placentia, president of the club, Miss Isabel Anderson and Warren Hilliard of Santa Ana are preparing the evening's plans.

All California alumni, or former students of the university, are asked to save the evening for the rally and to attend if possible.

POSSIBILITIES OF PORT TOLD LIONS CLUB

Linn L. Shaw, local real estate man and chairman for the Orange county harbor commission, in an address on "The Harbor" at the Lions club meeting at St. Ann's Inn at noon yesterday, declared that if Orange county residents cooperated in the right way, vessels would in a few years sail out of Orange county harbor with cargoes of golden fruit consigned to all parts of the world, and returning would bring thousands of home-seekers to the port, with Santa Ana and Orange county their first stopping point.

The prosperity of this section, he said, was in a measure responsible for Orange county residents being slow in taking up new projects.

"We are prosperous here and our citizenship is contented," he declared. "With the prosperity obtaining here, we are not as energetic in striving for new projects as are some sections of the state which have to promote their own interests through the development of manufacturing."

"Our people have been slow in fully recognizing the advantages that would result through the establishment of a big harbor at Newport Beach. The opportunity is here and proper co-operative effort would make the harbor one of the greatest assets of the county."

He pointed to the possibility of developing commerce so badly needed to secure government aid, and said that if business men of the county who receive freight shipments at San Pedro would direct shipment to Newport harbor, boats would be available to transport the shipments, and that eventually regular ocean traffic would result.

Vocal selections by H. J. Hughes and readings by Eleanor Young Elliott were features of the entertainment program.

MAN SOON TO START FIFTH PRISON TERM AS FEDERAL CONVICT

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—E. P. Johnson, four times a convict, will begin his fifth sentence soon, having been found guilty of impersonating a federal prohibition officer as a Brawley.

Johnson attempted to get an appointment to the dry force from Agent Dan O'Leary stationed here, but O'Leary told him he was not eligible because of his previous record.

Johnson went to Brawley and told the agent there his credentials were on the way and asked for $20 to conduct a raid. The agent, believing him, gave Johnson $20 and then $30 more. When Johnson failed to produce results he was arrested.

FARM CENTER AT BUENA PARK MEETS

BUENA PARK, March 16.—The Buena Park Farm Center met in the school hall Monday evening, Fred Bastady, president, in the chair. Twenty-one members were present.

Mr. Bastady reported on the fair banquet held recently at St. Ann's Inn, Santa Ana. He discussed the fair proposition and made a number of suggestions to the fair committee for this year.

The question of the approval of the mutual telephone for this district was discussed at some length and a vote taken which voiced the opinion that this center favor the installation of the mutual telephone system.

The center, after some discussion, voted that, since the Parent-Teachers have a good motion picture machine, they did not care to put any money into the county machine but would be glad to use any of the farm bureau films that might be available.

A report was given of the dairy-men's luncheon held in Santa Ana recently. The supervisors have voted a license of fifty cents per cow for all cows kept in the county. The center went on record as disapproving the act of the supervisors.

MRS. BURNETT SAYS SHE OWES LIFE TO TANLAC

Health, Wrecked in Youth by Stomach Trouble, is Fully Regained, She Declares—In Bed Helpless When Medicine Restored Her, She States.

Many wonderful endorsements have been given Tanlac, but one of the most interesting and remarkable yet published in connection with the treatment was given by Mrs. Adah Burnett, a highly esteemed resident of 1562 Clarinda St., Los Angeles, Cal., recently.

"I certainly can recommend Tanlac with all my heart," said Mrs. Burnett, "for I have every reason to believe that the medicine has saved my life. Why, I am feeling better now than I have at any time in the past thirty years, and I will feel grateful to Tanlac the longest day I live."

"Ever since I was a child, I have been sickly and have suffered from stomach trouble. It all began when I was just thirteen years old and had a serious affliction for which I was given very strong medicines, and I believe it was this rigorous treatment that left me with a bad stomach. At any rate, my stomach kept troubling me more and more and finally got so bad that nearly everything I ate hurt me. Sometimes the gas pains were simply awful and I would just ache all over. Why, I was much afraid several times in later years that my day had come and before getting Tanlac I was bedfast for a month. "I had been reading the Tanlac testimonials and people seemed so sincere in their praise of the medicine that I decided to see if it would help me. Well, after taking the medicine for just a week, I noticed quite a marked improvement in my condition, so I kept on taking it and getting better until I am now feeling like a new person in every way. Tanlac has certainly proved wonderful in my case and I just feel like I couldn't say too much for it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Adv.

FULLERTON FOLK TO HAIL FEZ WEARERS

Arrangements today were completed for the entertainment and dance to be given tonight by nobles of Fullerton when Louis M. Cole, potentate of Al Malaika temple, and a group of Los Angeles Shriners will be present.

Orange county Shriners were looking forward with keen anticipation to an address to be given by Cole, who will describe in detail the plans for the completion of the new temple building now in course of construction in Los Angeles.

Other prominent Shriners who will accompany Cole are George A. Fitch, recorder of the temple; Kenneth Gillette, master of ceremonies; David Smith, Slim Crabill and others.

According to D. Eymann Huff, president of the Orange County Shrine club, fully 400 Orange county men and women probably will be in attendance.

"The program, it is expected, will consume an hour and a half, following which dancing and cards will be in order," he said.

KIWANIAN CHARITY SHOW DATE SHIFTED

Dates for the Kiwanis club charity fund entertainment have been changed from March 19 and 20 to April 23 and 24, according to an announcement made here today by Stanley Reed, who is writing the story for the fund.

"It was decided to change the dates," said Reed, "in order to avoid conflict with the American Legion minstrel show, scheduled for March 22 and 23. At the same time we will avoid interfering in any way with the benefit performance for the musical convention. This benefit is to be given March 19 at the high school."

With the story, which will be a broad burlesque, virtually completed, Reed said rehearsals would start within the next week or ten days. Scenes will be laid at Newport harbor and the famous old dredger will form the background for some sparkling farce directed at the Orange County Choral union.

As tentatively outlined, the Lions club will participate in the program, with special stunts and musical numbers. Rotary has also been invited to participate. A loving cup will be awarded the club presenting the best skit.

Fred Bauer, Leon Eckles, Harry Garstang and a number of others are assisting Reed in the arrangements for the performance.

PORTS TO SEE SHIPS

PORTLAND, Ore., March 16.—As soon as the spring battle practice of the Pacific fleet is completed the vessels will proceed to various ports of the Pacific coast to aid in the Fourth of July celebrations. It is the plan of the bureau of navigation to have at least one naval vessel in each of the Oregon sea-ports for the national holiday.

15 LIQUOR VESSELS OFF JERSEY COAST

HIGHLANDS, N. J., March 16.—There was a great bustle today in the floating rum market off Jersey's three-mile limit.

Several swift runners put out from Highlands for the liquor-carrying fleet, which had increased to fifteen craft.

Two tugs from New York were sighted visiting the fleet. It was assumed that they carried supplies. In addition a number of motor boats were bobbing around the armada.

Noted among the new arrivals on rum row was a former New York yacht, which left the fleet last week and apparently had returned from the Bahamas with a new cargo.

'AERIAL COP' HOPS OFF FOR BAY CITY

Accompanied by O. G. Franke of this city, Sam Purcell, San Francisco, "aerial cop," who landed his 200-h. p. Curtis plane near Paulmarino shortly before noon yesterday, "hopped off" early today on the first leg of his return trip to the bay city.

Purcell, who brought three passengers from San Francisco to San Diego, will make one brief stop before continuing his flight to San Francisco. This will be in Los Angeles, where the aviator will visit his parents today.

"All conditions being favorable, I should reach San Francisco in five or six hours after leaving Los Angeles," said Purcell, who is called the "eye of the San Francisco police department."

"The wide having subsided I should be able to maintain a speed of 85 or 90 miles an hour. Up in the air, we run no risk of getting pinched and having to face famous arbiters of the law, like your Justice J. B. Cox. So, I'll probably 'step on 'er' after leaving Los Angeles."

Purcell spent yesterday visiting his sister, Mrs. O. G. Franke, 2331 North Main street, this city.

POISON PLOT KILLS 27 IN CHINA SCHOOL

SHANGHAI, March 16.—Twenty-seven students and teachers at the Normal School at Hangchow are dead and ten more are in a precarious condition as the result of eating rice saturated with poison by two disgruntled cooks, who recently had been discharged, according to evidence at the official investigation into the deaths.

Chien A-Li, one of the discharged cooks, testified that his fellow-conspirator, Pi Ho-Song, stole a bottle containing a white powder from the chemical laboratory of the school last Saturday and dumped the entire contents into the rice pot. He admitted that both of them had been discharged.

Following the serving of the rice at Saturday night's supper 200 students and fifty teachers became violently ill.

DORIS MAY STARS IN PRINCESS PHOTOPLAY

The sparkling personality of Doris May dominates her latest comedy vehicle distributed by the Film Booking Offices of America, formerly Robertson-Cole, and now being shown at the Princess Theatre. It is called "Up and At 'Em," and as the title implies the action is swift and the fun fast and furious. A fine cast, embracing such well known players as Otis Harlan, Hallam Cooley, Clarissa Selwynne and others, supports Miss May.

"DO AND DARE" OPENS AT WEST END TONIGHT

The god of hair breadth escapes keeps constant watch over the life of Tom Mix, the star of western dramas. Mix stars in "Do and Dare," the attraction at the West End theatre.

Though there are 49 scars on the body of the hero of thrilling photoplay, there would have been many more—and many more serious ones—were it not for the kindness and grace of this deity.

The stories of how he missed more dangerous injuries are feverish and absorbing.

It is some of these very stories that supply Mix a wealth of material that he can draw upon for material for his screen dramas. He doesn't have to fake up scenes; the shelves of his memory are stored with them.

"Why not fake your daring escapades and crack shooting for the screen?" his friends ask him. "It is easy to fake. Most of the wild-west melodramatic thrills are faked. You will avoid a lot of danger."

But Tom only laughs at such persuasion. "I don't have to fake!" he argues zealously. "I am putting real life into my pictures. Any good actor can fake his stunts and make a fairly good show—but faking isn't real life."

MARION DAVIES IN FILM AT TEMPLE THEATRE.

Suppose your father were reported to be bankrupt tomorrow; would you be able to earn "your own living and hold your family together as does Marion Davies in her latest production, "Adam and Eva?" now showing at the Temple theatre.

As Eva King, Miss Davies' only worry is how she can spend her dad's money as fast as he is able to provide it. Then comes the shock of her life. Her father "loses" his entire fortune. What does she do—sell her jewels and live in comfort in an uptown apartment? She does not. She equips a farm in the country, the only piece of property left of the once magnificent King estate, and makes it pay. T. Roy Barnes plays

LON CHANEY PLAYS FAGIN IN "OLIVER TWIST"

Lon Chaney is not the only one that believes his characterization of Fagin in the Jackie Coogan production of "Oliver Twist," now showing at the Yost theatre, is his greatest achievement. It was because it was expected to be so that this actor was chosen as fit test to support the marvel-boy of the screen, Jackie Coogan.

Chaney, a master of makeup and the subtleties of acting, has been called "The Richard Mansfield of the screen." In the role of Fagin, Chaney sought to make good on his greatest opportunity, and he did. The makeup of Chaney, as the conscienceless "merry old gentleman" whose business it was to ruin the souls of youth and commit them to a life of crime, is matchless in its perfection. Its fidelity to the descriptions by Charles Dickens of Fagin is perfect. But not only in its physical resemblance to the villain is Chaney's perfected art apparent.

Jackie Coogan, star of the massive production, is supported by an extraordinary cast, headed by Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell, George Siegmann and Lionel Belmore.

76 MEN RECRUITED
PORTLAND, Ore., March 16.—During February 76 men enlisted in the navy through the Portland Recruiting district, which includes Oregon, eastern Washington and northern Idaho. The first enlistment men were sent to the naval training station at San Francisco where they receive instructions before being assigned to vessels of the fleet. Once aboard ship they have the opportunity to learn trades or carry on a course of study.

GUILT PLEA IN 'CAMOUFLAGE CAR THEFT'

Refusing the aid of attorneys, F. L. Denning and John Boyle, garage employees, today pleaded guilty in superior court to charges of operating an automobile without the permission of the owner.

Denning and Boyle were arrested as a result of the disappearance from a garage on North Main street, of an automobile owned by George Flores.

Boyle, in reporting the matter to police, told them that two strangers had entered the garage and, blackjacking him, had driven away in the automobile.

Doubt was cast on the story, however, when the machine was found, overturned on West Fifth street.

After their arrest the men were said to have admitted that they appropriated the car, and that after they wrecked it, invented the story of the hold-up.

Sentence will be pronounced next Tuesday at 9 a. m.

S. A. FOLK TO GIVE L. A. RADIO BILL

Further proof of the popularity of Orange county talent was furnished here today when it was announced that Greenleaf building artists have been invited to put on a feature program for the Earle C. Anthony radio station, in Los Angeles, Thursday evening, March 29.

This station, with a reputation for presenting high class programs, will feature Hazel Landers Hummel, Ollimae Matthews, Earl Fraser, Stanley Reed, Leon Eckles and other Santa Anans in a concert which will last for nearly two hours.

According to advices received here, the Anthony station has been quite favorably impressed with the high class concerts given by KFAW, The Register station, which has featured these and other artists during the past few months.

As a result, invitations have been issued to Orange county musicians to take charge of the Anthony program on designated dates. Clarence A. Gustlin and other local musicians staged concerts recently at the powerful Los Angeles station.

WATER COMPANY PLACENTIA EXPANDS

FULLERTON, March 16.—As a preliminary step toward incorporation and the distribution of stock to the owners of the Placentia Union Water company, the organization has made application to the Railroad commission for permission to issue 3000 shares of capital stock at a par value of $10 per share. Heretofore the company has operated with a S. Bradford as trustee. The incorporation will mean that each of the present members of the company will receive proportionate shares of stock, and participate in the election of officers and a board of directors.

It is also believed that this is a part of a general movement for the incorporation of Placentia as a city. Several weeks ago the leading citizens of the town appeared before the combined city councils of Fullerton, Anaheim, and Santa Ana with a request that they be permitted to join in the construction of the outfall sewer to the sea. At that time they were informed that before there could be a bond issue by Placentia the city would have to incorporate or form a sanitary district. Since then there have been several moves on the part of Placentia, which would indicate that an incorporation plan was being considered.

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE CELEBRATED

LA HABRA, March 16.—For better or worse, for richer or poorer, to have traveled together for fifty years does not fail to the lot of many couples. To the Rev. and Mrs. Jacob Olsen the rare pleasure of celebrating their golden wedding day, with their children and grandchildren around them, was a joyous occasion.

A host of friends and relatives gathered at the Baptist tabernacle to congratulate this worthy couple. At the sumptuous banquet covers were laid for 40 guests. These included the co-workers and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Olsen. Mr. and Mrs. Olsen are the parents of six children and nineteen grandchildren, all living. Mr. Olsen was born in Huzessand, Norway, in February, 1850. He came to Chicago when a young man. There he met and married Mrs. Olsen, who was a native of Sweden. Before coming to Chicago Mr. Olsen sailed the seas for 10 years. After affiliating with the Baptist church he attended Morgan Park Theological seminary. His first church was in Dakota when that state was a territory. Here he did missionary work for 36 years among the Scandinavian residents, beginning when the only Baptist church was 50 miles away.

The La Habra church was organized in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Olsen in 1921. These people have three sons. The eldest son, Henry, is manager of a grain elevator in Harrisburg, S. D. A. J. Olsen, the second son, lived for several years in La Habra. He is at present manager of the Federal Trust and Savings bank in Hollywood. Isaac Olsen is a building contractor in La Habra. One daughter resides in Detroit, another in South Dakota, and one here.

Many remembrances were received from their friends. Among those present at the banquet were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Olsen and son Glen, of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Olsen and children of La Habra; Mr. and Mrs. Nels Olsen and family; Mr. and Mrs. C. Alstad, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Vaage, Mr. and Mrs. John Monstre, Mr. and Mrs. John Swenson and daughters of Los Angeles; Miss Ethel Johnson of Sioux City, Ia.; Mrs. Josephine Fader, R. T. Ballard and Miss Alice Dunlap of Orange; Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Hewlett of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bagereson of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walker, Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Earley and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lindauer, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lindauer, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. F. Salling, Mrs. Emma Sweeney, of La Habra.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE ENTERTAINED WHEN THEY VISIT PARK

VILLA PARK, March 16.—Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hanselman entertained a party of young people at the Villa Park hall. They spent the evening dancing and had a very enjoyable evening. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served before the guests departed.

Linfoot of Saskatoon, Sask., Miss May Scharlow and Henry Kerr of Los Angeles. Mr. Linfoot is a nephew of Mrs. Ellen Holditch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Knuth and daughters Margaret and Barbara returned from Palm Springs Sunday evening. Mr. Knuth accompanied by Mrs. Ellen Holditch drove up Saturday.

The Ladies Aid met at the hall Tuesday for an all day meeting. They quilted two comforts and tied one. Owing to there being so much sickness in the community there was a very small attendance.

Mrs. William Bathgate, who was visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Guy Williams, San Juan Capistrano, for ten days returned Monday.

The Modern Priscilla club met at the new home of Mrs. Walter L. Adams Wednesday afternoon where, in spite of wind and weather, a most enjoyable afternoon was spent. White iris and gaffodils were used for decorations. Visitors of the club were Mrs. Dan Grewell and Mrs. E. H. Adams. Members present were Mesdames John Allen, W. L. Adams, George Carriker, J. M. ## MOVIE COMPANY HAS TOUGH LUCK AGAIN; VALUABLE SET LOST

NEWPORT BEACH, March 16.—The Santa Ana storm which swept the beach cities this week destroyed a motion picture set erected at a cost of $10,000 by the Goldwyn company at Balboa Beach.

Three schooners anchored off the shore for picture work were swept out to sea, one of them grounding on the shores of Catalina island. Several sea-going tugs were hired by the producer of the picture, Jesse D. Hampton, to recover the boats which were without motive power. The tugs recovered the boats, but were unable to bring them back to Balboa in the face of the gale, so towed them to Los Angeles harbor.

Lambert Hillyer, director of the picture, which is being made from Rex Beach's novel, "The Spoilers," with the aid of actors and property men, built a bulwark to save the sets, but the bulwarks were not strong enough and were swept away. Mr. Hampton intends to complete the water scenes at Catalina island.

SCHOOL ENGINE IS REMOVED BY VANDAL

WESTMINSTER, March 16.—The small one and a half horsepower engine used for irrigating the school grounds was not to be found when the janitor, Monday, removed the box which had covered it. It is thought it was stolen sometime between Friday and Monday. It was valued at about $25.

A dairy of twenty cows was installed by Mr. Velas, of the Newhope district, on the former Maganey place, the past week.

Miss Elizabeth Boyce, Santa Ana, attended the Presbyterian church Sunday and was a dinner guest of Mr. Phil McClintock. She spent several days at the Hosack home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bullard, Mrs. Hoskin and daughter, Miss Annie Hoskin, Santa Ana, attended the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The Woman's Missionary society of the Wintersburg Methodist church met Wednesday with Mrs. George Murdock. The wind prevented many from coming but about fifteen were present, enjoying the meeting and the dainty refreshments afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards and daughter, Nettie, of Elsinore, came Tuesday and spent several days at the ranch. Mr. Edwards has sold his Ford truck and purchased a new Chevrolet.

The Seal Beach boys played basketball with the Westminster boys at Westminster Wednesday afternoon. The girls of the two schools played at the same place.

Mrs. W. J. Edwards visited her daughters, Mrs. Albert Kettler at Buena Park, and Mrs. Ben Craig at Seal Beach, during her stay here.

NEW PUBLICATION LAUDS LONG BEACH

LONG BEACH, March 16.—A new publication, The Stranger, made its appearance on news stands this week. This attractive magazine is published in Los Angeles, and, according to its editor, Stuart L. Klingensmith, it will be a monthly magazine pertaining to Southern California in general, and Los Angeles in particular.

The Stranger, says the foreword, has been born of a mutual need in the form of a monthly pictorial of Southern California, that one may buy and send to one's friends, in the east or elsewhere.

One of the leading articles, of the initial issue of The Stranger, was prepared by John Meteer, publicity director of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. In his article, titled, "Long Beach, the Miracle City," Mr. Meteer tells what Long Beach is and how it got that way. The story is illustrated with attractive cuts of The Pike, city park and the Signal Hill oil district.

HONORS BAKERSFIELD WOMAN PLACENTIA, March 16.—Mrs. H. P. Bender entertained a few friends at cards on Friday from two till five, in honor of her mother, Mrs. John Alstaetter of Bakersfield. The rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers, poppies predominating. Four tables were used. The players were Mesdames John Alstaetter, A. C. Schalles, Sam Newnes, Fred Cline, J. P. Monroe, Glen Riddleberger, Lisle R. Morehouse, Dave Lemke, Dan New, Roy Charlton, John Scott, Lewis Edmondson, G. F. Thomas, C. P. Smith, Mrs. Charles O. Petty. Mrs. Fred Cline won first prize.

BOUNDARIES OF ANNEXATION ARE GIVEN

ORANGE, March 16.—Defining the proposed boundaries of the shoeing strip sought in annexation proceedings west of this city, for which petitions are about to be put into circulation, officials of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce, interested in the project, today disclosed the exact territory embraced in the proposal.

At the same time it became known that lighting features might be installed at certain spots in this territory at the city's expense.

Approval Expected. While no authoritative action has been taken on this suggestion which was broached by certain residents of the annexation area, it was considered likely that the city board would grant ready approval.

Included in the lighting project is the installation of an illuminated arch across West Chapman avenue at the juncture of Main street.

This arch electrically lighted would flash out the word "Orange" to passing motorists, proving a helpful advertising medium not only to West Chapman avenue property but to the entire city.

In announcing the territory included in the proposed annexation scheme, Chamber of Commerce authorities declared that it should be understood that entrance into the city is entirely dependent upon the resident voters of the described area and in no way will the question of compulsion enter into the matter.

Limits Are Given. Starting at the intersection of Chapman avenue and Batavia street, the territory extends northward to the center of Maple avenue, thence westerly to "Little Main" street, south to Chapman avenue, thence westward to the starting point.

On the south side of Chapman avenue, starting at the same point the strip 660 feet wide is included in the project running through to North Main street.

Inclusion of this strip it was pointed out, would in time mean the opening of Almond avenue through to Main street, a project that would prove a boon to subdivisions in that area, opening new frontage on the extended thoroughfare.

From Main street the strip extends southward to the southern boundary of the Phillips subdivision, located at the corner of La Veta avenue and Main street.

From this point the line runs westward to the limits of this tract, thence north to La Veta avenue, where it turns eastward for a short distance to include the Hafer, Stewart, Martin, Columbia and Kenyon tracts, all of which face on Main street, some of which have been subdivided.

The territory included in the southern part represents the farthest point in that direction that the city can sewer without great expense. To sewer the district from the north would prove an even greater financial burden on account of the slope of the land, it was pointed out.

Nothing Compulsory. "There is no compulsory motive behind the scheme," V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, declared. "It is simply a matter for determination among residents of the desired area."

"The project is a forward looking one and will provide a sufficiency of water, sewer conveniences, and possible school locations for residents of that area which is being improved rapidly on account of the large number of subdivisions either under way or in sight."

ROUMANIA HOPES TO BECOME EUROPEAN BREADBASKET SOON

BUCHAREST, March 16.—With the establishment of the largest "small-landed aristocracy" in the world, Roumania has just set out to acquire for herself in 1923 the title of the "granary of Europe." With the vast increase in cereal production which Roumania hopes to attain through the fact that she now possesses over a million and a half of farmers tilling their own ground, she hopes to save Europe from the serious menace that results from the temporary disappearance of Russia as the great grain reservoir of Europe.

BUYS SERVICE STATION PLACENTIA, March 16.—Mr. E. K. Kirby of St. Paul, Minn., who has been visiting his brother-in-law R. S. Mosher of Santa Ana, has been so pleased with California that he intends to stay and has purchased the E. Golder service station on the corner of Santa Fe and Bradford avenues and takes possession Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Golder will go to Arizona, where they hope Mrs. Golder's health will improve and will buy an oil station there.

Mr. E. Golder and Arthur Anderson were in Los Angeles Monday.

MAY BECOME FLAGSHIP PORTLAND, Ore., March 16.—When the cruiser Seattle is placed back in commission in May she will be assigned to duty as administrative flagship of the United States fleet. The ship is now at Bremerton navy yard. Her station when commissioned will be on the Atlantic seaboard where she will carry the flag of Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

BEAUTIFUL AND IMPRESSIVE

It was a very beautiful and very impressive ceremony that accompanied the dedication of the monument placed by Santa Ana Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday in Memorial Grove, at the Santa Ana high school.

It was all so very beautiful and very impressive and so full of the spirit of patriotism that it remains a matter of regret that there were not tens of thousands of residents of Orange county present. As it was, there was not one of the many who were there who was not inspired, who did not go away with a feeling of the glory that has marked the history of our country, who did not feel the thrill of pride that throughout the generations has sustained the Stars and Stripes.

It seemed fitting indeed that this monument should have been provided by the Daughters of the American Revolution, for that is an organization that holds high the banner of patriotism. Its ideals are those upon which the stability of our country is founded. It stands ready to serve this land of ours in peace or in war.

This block of granite and this bronze tablet stand not only in memory of the men and women who served America during the World War, but also in memory of those ideals of citizenship and patriotism that have made America worth living for and worth dying for.

AN ILLOGICAL SITUATION

If law is logical, and attorneys maintain that it is, then something is wrong with the law or the logic in relation to the method of selecting a board of education for Santa Ana high school district, and for the Santa Ana common school district.

If the attorney general is correct in his diagnosis of the law, the board of education is to be elected by the votes of residents of the entire Santa Ana high school district, which includes the city of Santa Ana, and the school districts of Delhi, Diamond, Greenville, Paularino, Harper-Fairview and Newport Beach. Also, it is pointed out that a candidate for the board of education may be a resident of any portion of the district.

That is all right; the logic thus far is easily followed. If the outside districts are a part of the high school district and pay taxes toward the maintenance of the high school, they ought in all fairness to have a vote on the selection of members of the school board, and there is every reason why a resident of the outside area should have a right to be a candidate for membership on the school board.

But the board of education not only is the school board for the Santa Ana high school district but it is also the board of education for the Santa Ana common school district, which lies entirely within the city limits of Santa Ana.

That is, in the election to be held April 9, in order that the outside districts may vote upon the selection of a board to control their district, in recognition of a principle that is right, they also vote on the selection of a board to control the Santa Ana elementary schools, in which the outside districts have no direct interest nor rights of participation.

And, if a candidate for board of education can be a resident of Greenville or Newport Beach, there is no reason why, so far as the law as construed by the attorney general is concerned, all five members of the board of education should not be residents of Greenville or Newport Beach.

That would be perfectly logical in relation to the operation of the Santa Ana high school district, and perfectly illogical and absurd in relation to the operation of the Santa Ana common school district.

It is upon just such conditions that we approach the election of April 9.

It goes without saying that this peculiar situation deserves attention at Sacramento. The practical way out of the difficulty is to have a complete separation of the two boards. The Santa Ana high school should be operated by a high school board, elected by the electorate of the entire high school district. The Santa Ana common school district should have a school board elected by electors of Santa Ana and by nobody else.

TRAFING BY RADIO

Radiotrafing is the latest war horror. The French have invented it to get even with those unmanageable Germans.

The Germans lately have taken to broadcasting patriotic propaganda, urging all good citizens to stand fast against French aggression, and making a special feature of patriotic music. The French decided they had to knock that in the head. So radio censors are perched in the big French station on the Eiffel Tower, and every time they hear "Deutschland Ueber Alles" or "Die Wacht Am Rhein" roaring through the ether, they let it in and drown out the German stuff with "La Marseillaise" or a stentorian recital of German atrocities in France and Belgium.

Let them fight it out on that line if it takes all the waves in the ether. At this distance we can stand the shock.

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

The colleagues of John Sharp Williams, retiring senator from Mississippi, wanted to give him a farewell banquet. It would have been the biggest and most elaborate affair of the kind within the memory of the present generation of statesmen, fittingly commemorating Senator Williams' 30 years of service and reflecting the esteem in which he is held by men of all parties. Official Washington would gladly have turned out en masse to honor the venerable statesman.

Senator Williams rejected the honor because, as he said, the proposed banquet, with its glitter and oratory, represented the very sort of thing that he was leaving Washington to get away from.

He did, however, attend a farewell dinner. It was given by a humble doorkeeper of the Senate, hitherto unknown to fame. There were only two or three other guests. The host is said to have prepared and served the dinner himself. And he received this tribute from the famous senator:

"I have known Presidents, many of them; I have mixed with cabinet officers; indeed I have made some. I have been friends with great judges, ambassadors, statesmen, representatives of kings and potentates. But there is one friend whose memory will stay with me longer, whom I will cherish more dearly and whose friendship I esteem a greater honor than that of all the lords of fame with whom I have been associated—and that friend sits at my side tonight."

There is democracy for you! While such a spirit lives, and wins praise, we needn't worry about the future of America.

Learning that there are 110,000,000 people in the United States now, some Americans swell up at the thought of belonging to so big a nation and others shrink at the thought of being only 1-100,000,000th of a nation.

Future For Motor Cars

San Francisco Journal.

For years there has been the annual talk and speculation about the production of motor cars reaching the point of saturation beyond which their numbers could not increase. Since that talk began the production of cars has exceeded all bounds, until now the annual number of cars built exceeds the total number which were in use a few years ago. Still there is no sign of the saturation point. The production of Ford cars alone for this year is expected to exceed 1,000,000 and the various models of other low-priced cars are selling in greater number than ever before. At the same time the market for high-grade cars was never so good as at present. The recent automobile show was a revelation in the growth of luxury in the matter of handsome cars.

When considering the question of a point of saturation it is only the cheaper cars that need to be considered. They make the market for the better cars and the broader the sale for the cheap cars becomes the more sure is the high-priced car of its market. People get the automobile habit and they always progress. They never go backward. They will continue to buy the better cars as rapidly as their means will permit. The production of this grade of car is necessarily slow and it is never likely to go beyond the point of the public demand.

With reference to the popular-priced car, the market is so large that no amount of production seems to overtake it. One reason for this is that the car ceases to be a luxury and becomes a necessity. The uses of cheap cars have so multiplied that they have come to be regarded as a necessity to the everyday life of the people. When the little cars become so useful that they are an asset and not a liability the number of people who can afford to own them is limited only by the number of people who can afford to live and make money. Doubtless some time will be reached when production will overtake demand in this country, but by that time the factor of depreciation will furnish a reason for renewals so great that it will keep production busy to supply them.

The automobile industry with its accessories has become a ten billion dollar business. It would appear that the only thing that is a real menace to its growth is the supply of gasoline. But it is premature to worry much about that. A substitute for gasoline may be found before the supply of oil begins to fail.

California Statutes a Jumble

San Francisco Chronicle.

The statutes of California are a horrible jumble. As printed they include hundreds of laws or parts of laws declared unconstitutional, and laws both as originally enacted and as amended. No lawyer can assure himself that anything is the law until he has followed its devious way through the courts and the layman acts upon what he thinks is the law at the peril.

John A. McGilvray, legislative counsel, says he is working on a plan to bring all the laws relating to one subject into a single definite place in the code. Also to repeal all laws obsolete or which have been declared unconstitutional. More power to his arm! But he may need to be backed by a constitutional amendment.

A very wholesome provision of the constitution, which should certainly be retained, reads in part as follows:

Every act shall embrace but one subject, which subject shall be expressed in its title. No law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title.

That is sound law, but it practically prohibits codification by legislative action. Those who remember the last codification will recall that each act requiring change by so much as a single word had to be read three times in full and an awful time they had of it. Members of the two houses took turns at "presiding" at evening sessions. They read or worked, paying no attention to what was going on, and clerks relieved each other in mumbled over the stuff and, as alleged, turning several leaves at once to forward business. There might or might not be a few members working at their desks. Nobody paid any attention to the reading. Nor was there need of it. It was a strictly constitutional farce.

And yet, as our law mill grinds ceaselessly during legislative sessions, wholesale code revision is highly desirable at least once in a decade. And revision ought to include changes to clarify meanings or make the statutes conform to the constitution. With proper safeguards that can be done and codification by the usual processes elsewhere should be made possible at some specified intervals. It cannot be done without a constitutional amendment.

Of course the legislative counsel is perfectly familiar with this and we assume that his proposal is to print certain laws and omit others. There is need for more than that and some practicable means should be worked out.

Ghastliness of War

Pasadena Star News.

The ghastliness of warfare is shockingly impressed by official figures showing the casualties suffered by Great Britain in the world struggle. Britain's casualties, as officially reported by Chancellor of the Exchequer Baldwin, numbered 446,023 men killed and 2,212,906 wounded, out of a total of 2,658,929 enrolled in all branches of the military and naval service. Total expenditures of the British Government during the war period were more than $45,000,000,000.

Such is the horror of modern warfare! It depicts a nation of the flower of its young manhood. It leaves countless homes in mourning. It impoverishes national treasuries and entails vast debts, which will burden future generations. Surely, there is a better, more humane way to settle international differences than by warfare!

Burbank a Tireless Worker

San Francisco Chronicle.

Luther Burbank was 74 years old Wednesday. He celebrated the event by working quietly at his home in Santa Rosa. To the California plant wizard work is all important. Real pleasure, he believes, lies in daily effort of accomplishment. "The destination," he said recently, "is not nearly so wonderful as the journey."

Luther Burbank has gained riches, renown and gratitude of the world as a result of a long life of tireless effort. Today he still is putting forth that effort. He long ago learned the fundamental lesson of life that work is essential to happiness. He speaks modestly of the successes that have crowned his efforts, but enthusiastically of the labor that has made these things possible. He has lived, and is living, a full life.

American "Fidgets"

Stockton Record

A woman physician at the University of California says gum-chewing is just one of the "fidgets" of American life. We keep our jaws moving to be doing something as a vent for nervousness of one kind and another. Right she is, and observant chewers note that the longer they chew the more nervous they become.

The rocking chair is another American fidget. Nowhere else probably in the world are there so many rocking chairs and rocking is another thing that finally gets on the rocker's nerves if long continued. We have discarded the cradle because it "addles" the baby's brains. Anyone who tries the experiment of reading while sitting quietly in a straight chair which is comfortable and capacious then attempts to read while rocking back and forth will find that while her brains may not be "addled" by the motion it requires a greater effort to concentrate on the thought in the reading matter than while sitting in a moveless chair.

Eating peanuts while watching a moving picture is probably another fidget. It gives the watcher something to do with his hands and jaws while otherwise forced to remain motionless. Keeping the hands busy at knitting is said to be wonderfully soothing to some women, while others are made restless and nervous by it. The habit some women have, in fact most of them, of grabbing some bit of needlework when they sit down to rest—is that a real desire for accomplishment or merely another case of fidget?

THE CAPTIVE TIGER

Tiger, tiger, with wistful eyes,
What are you doing here?
You should be roaming 'neath Indian skies,
Where the jewelled humming-bird swiftly flies.
And the ruined Buddhist temples rise—
Not painfully pacing here.

Tiger, tiger, with fear-filled eyes,
What are you doing here?
You should be watching the pale moon rise,
And hearing the myriad jungle cries
From the lair where your tawny mate soft lies—
Not fearfully crouching here.

Tiger, tiger, with soulful eyes,
What are you doing here?
The God of the Wild Things looks down and sighs,
"His soul will be free when his body dies,
But the soul of the man who enslaved him tries
In vain to escape from here."

"Bill," the poet gasped to his friend, "I wrote a poem about my little boy and began the first verse with these words:

The friend read aloud: "My son, my pig, my counterpart."—Atlanta Constitution.

NO PRIVACY AFTER ALL.

The old couple had raised a large family in small quarters, but had always been saving up, against that day when they might enjoy a little luxury. Finally they had enough saved up and went to the city for a thrilling trip alone. They registered at a first class hotel and were shown to their room.

The old lady gave one look at the elegant surroundings, then her eyes fastened on the twin beds.
"Well," she sighed, "this is certainly a nice room they've put us in, but I had really thought we'd have it to ourselves."

ALL SAME LIKE SMITH.

A great many tourists ask about Indian nomenclature. The agent on a reservation was trying to explain.
"It used to work this way," he stated. "If a girl saw a timid fawn, she was called Fawn Alford. If a young buck happened to spy a crazy buffalo, he might be called Crazy Bull. That's the way the Indians got their names."

"But the deer and the buffalo have disappeared. Times have changed."

W. L. Grubb Urges Voters to Read Charter and Vote On It According to Merits

Editor Register.—I should like to ask the good people of Santa Ana who are opposing the adoption of the charter, to consider this question solely on its merits. It's not a case of its being a good thing for some and bad for others; if it's good or bad it will affect all alike.

The members of the Board of Freeholders who framed this charter were all land owners and all large taxpayers. They deliberated for weeks before deciding on any form of charter; they studied many forms of municipal government; they approached the question as all you voters should, with open minds, and finally unanimously decided upon this form as the simplest and most effective of all forms of municipal government.

They invited any and all citizens to attend any or all their meetings to offer suggestions and take part in their deliberations. The voters are the jury in this case. They surely should consider it in an open minded way. Besides it's their case.

Go down to the city clerk and ask for a copy of this charter (there is one there for you), and read it carefully. It's not some new and fanciful contraption.

The one vital paramount question is, shall we continue to operate the city under laws made up at Sacramento by the legislature, or shall we make our own laws suited to our needs in Santa Ana by the people of Santa Ana. In other words, are the people of our city intelligent enough to govern their own town in their own way? Do we believe in the principle of home rule?

The Board of Freeholders feels entitled to a fair reading of the charter before you cast your vote against its adoption.

I will say that personally I know of no one man who has served you on your Board of Trustees but favors a city charter, and I'll say one of them who has also held a number of other city offices and two terms on your board of county supervisors and has had, I believe, more responsibility thrust upon him than any other citizen in our city is for it, and further believes the county should have a charter.

I should like to suggest that some of these gentlemen organizing the opposition to the charter come out and run for trustee. Personally I should like to see H. C. Head, Dr. Dobson and Lucien Sweet take out nomination papers for trustee. I will promise to vote for them for the one-year term and do all I can to get them elected as a just punishment for their fight against home rule.

Come on, have the courage of your convictions! Get your hats in the ring, and show us how to run the city with one city attorney. My promise to vote for you goes. Don't claim your business won't permit it. Your business is no more important than that of those who are now in the race; and run on an anti-charter platform. Come on. Make it interesting.

W. L. GRUBB.

Adventures of the Twins

The Chocolate Rabbit

By Olive Roberts Barton

Off went the Twins to Sugar Plum Land which lay between Castor Land and Plaster Land. "What'd you come for?" asked someone.

"And here stood a chocolate rabbit with white icing done all over him like an embroidery pattern. "Hello," answered Nancy politely. "We came to set things to rights."

"Well, it's high time somebody did," said the rabbit. "King Gingerbread made a new law yesterday nobody can obey and we'll all have to go to jail unless he takes it back."

"What law?" asked Nick.

"He said bathing was a good habit and every Sugar-Plum-Lander would have to take a bath twice a day."

"That's awful!" replied Nick. "Even once is bad enough."

"It won't do even at that," said the embroidery-pattern rabbit, wagging his ears. "We can't even bathe once, any of us except the Kewpie off the top of the wedding cake. It's made of bisque and won't run; but how in creation can folk made of cake and sugar take a bath? We'd all run away and mix together and when we dried off, like as not I'd have an ear of the knick-knack dog, a leg of the lemon cookie sparrow and a tail of the gum-drop pig."

"I never thought of that!" declared Nancy. "We'll go to see King Gingerbread at once. Maybe he'll take the law back."

"Goodbye!" cried the chocolate rabbit. "I'll spread the good news." And away he hopped to tell the other Sugar-Plum Landers that nobody need endanger his life by taking a bath.

"Say," he called, stopping suddenly. "You'd better stop at the Cut-Out Lady's house and ask her to sew King Gingerbread's buttons on straight. She sews them crooked and he gets mad and makes silly laws."

"All right!" called Nancy. (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)
